France Pledges Britain Full Aid If Attack Made

All Armed Forces of Republic Would Spring to Defence of United Kingdom If Any Other Power Should Launch Aggressive War

Same Promise Is Given Belgium

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Dec. 4.—France's armed forces would "spontaneously" come to the aid of Britain in case of an unprovoked aggression, Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos announced to the Chamber of Deputies today.

The Foreign Minister declared the same aid would be given Belgium under such circumstances.

REPLIES TO EDEN
Replying to a recent statement by Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, assuring Britain's aid to France and Belgium in case of unprovoked aggression, M. Delbos said:

"I declare in the name of the French government that all the forces of France on land, on sea, and in the air would be spontaneously and immediately utilized for the defence of Great Britain in case of unprovoked aggression."

"I will say as much for Belgium."

LIMIT FOR OUTLAY
The Foreign Minister announced France will propose to the League of Nations a new plan for limitation of military expenditures and reduction of aggressive arm forces.

M. Delbos invited Germany to participate in a "new Locarno" pact and declared France's Geneva disarmament plan would be open to all nations.

He reaffirmed France's policy of non-intervention in the Spanish civil war, by which statement the Blum government risked a showdown with the Communist party.

A Communist spokesman previously had formally demanded France lift its arms embargo on Spain.

Sold For $1,300

Associated Press
Chicago, Dec. 4.—Whitebong, a big Angus that won the Junior Livestock feeding contest at the International Livestock Exposition here, sold today for a new high price of $1.05 a pound. The animal brought $1,300 to its owner, Robert E. Vaughn, twenty-year-old Chenoa, Ill., youth.

New Government Building Mooted

Courthouse Or Office Structure in City to Be Considered in Provincial Works Plans; Depends on New Loan

Construction of either Victoria's long-awaited new courthouse or a new office building to house overflowing provincial departments is said to be under consideration by the B.C. Government for its public works programme next year.

In the absence from the city of Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, confirmation of the reports could not be obtained.

The entire project depends, of course, on the government's success in floating the $5,000,000 loan authorized last month by the B.C. Legislature.

If these funds are obtained, there is a strong likelihood that a considerable sum will be allocated to the project.

In provincial circles there is a feeling that an office building is more sorely needed than a new courthouse. Previously a structure to house several departments have been suggested on Government Street, near Elliott Street.

For several years now provincial departments have been gradually squeezed out of the main Legislative Buildings into annexes, and in some cases uptown offices, like the Civil Service Commission and the Health Insurance Commission.

On the other hand, demand for a new courthouse is of long standing.

Vancouver City Hall Opened

Speaker Perry of B.C. Legislature Speaks at Formal Event

Vancouver, Dec. 4.—Vancouver's seventh city hall in fifty years, built in the Fairview residential district overlooking the business section and the harbor, was opened today by Hon. H. G. Perry, Speaker of the British Columbia Legislature.

In a light drizzle of rain, Mayor G. C. McGeer, M.P., Mr. Perry and Chief Justice A. M. Morrison, led a procession of dignitaries to the huge main doors. Mr. McGeer and Mr. Perry were accompanied by mace-bearers.

In the council chamber Mr. Perry addressed an invited audience of 175 persons.
"I'm coming here as speaker of the Legislature, accompanied by the mace and the sergeant-at-arms. I have established a precedent in this province which I fairly believe is warranted by the historical significance of this event in opening the city hall in the largest and most important city in our province," he said.

AXE DEATHS IN MANITOBA

Elderly Farm Couple Killed at Hamiota; Neighbor in Mental Hospital

Hamiota, Man., Dec. 4.—Battered about the faces and heads with the butt end of an axe during an attack on them last Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. James Gray, elderly farm couple, died today.

Elmer Gray, a neighbor of the Ewans, was said by police to have attacked the couple. He was taken to a mental hospital in Brandon, about twenty-five miles northeast of here, suffering from a superficial throat wound which, police said, was self-administered by a razor.

Dublin, Irish Free State, Dec. 4.—(Associated Press).—An attitude of complete detachment over the constitutional crisis in London was maintained today by President Eamon de Valera's Free State government. Authoritative sources said President de Valera would not give any opinion.

Indian Given Death Sentence

Paddy Duncan Found Guilty of Killing Another Indian in Yukon

Whitehorse, Y.T., Dec. 4.—Paddy Duncan, Indian, was sentenced to be hanged March 23, 1937, after a six-man jury had found him guilty of the murder of Horton Kane, another Indian, in territorial court here yesterday.

Kane was fatally injured at Champagne Landing, sixty-five miles west of here, on October 30, by a rifle shot through the abdomen.

Mr. Justice C. D. Macaulay imposed the death penalty, but said he would support strong recommendation for mercy appended to the jury's verdict when he reported to the Secretary of State.

Evidence indicated the two Indians had quarrelled after drinking home brew supplied them by Reginald Lowe, Champagne Landing trading post manager. Lowe is now serving a six-month sentence for supplying liquor to Indians.

The residence act passed by the Legislature specifies which authority shall be responsible for social services to people moving their residence from one place to another.

London's Oldest Cars Parade

Commemorating the fortieth anniversary of the famous Emancipation Day in 1896, nearly a hundred old autos—all built before 1905—took part in the annual run from Hyde Park, London, to Brighton. Emancipation Day commemorates the repealing of the law requiring a man with a red flag to precede all mechanically-propelled road vehicles. The picture above, taken on Westminster Bridge, shows, nearest the camera, an 1899 Benz, followed by an 1899 MMC Daimler.

VETERANS GIVE KING SUPPORT

Col. J. C. Wedgewood, British M.P., Tell of Many Messages

London, Dec. 4.—Col. J. C. Wedgewood, Independent M.P., who introduced a motion in the House of Commons yesterday suggesting that Parliament repudiate its allegiance to the King, said he had received more than fifty messages of congratulation for his action.

One Canadian message, suggested that if there was a world-wide election the King would win handsomely.

A message from Bromley in Kent said: "Congratulations on your pluck in voicing the feelings of millions." Other messages said all "ex-servicemen" were furious at what they considered bishops' interference. Everyone supported the King except the church, the smug and those politicians who are frightened of both."

WISHES DEBATE
After reading the messages, Col. Wedgewood said: "I want an open debate in the House of Commons. I am perfectly certain the Commons is for the King."

British Press Speaks Frankly

London Times Warns of "Infinite Harm" If King Weds Unwisely

Associated Press
London, Dec. 4.—A marriage between the King and Mrs. Wallis Simpson "would scandalize a very large proportion of the nation and empire and therefore do infinite harm to the whole constitution of British monarchy," declared The London Times today.

The newspaper based its statement on the fact "the lady in question already has two former husbands living."
"The King is free to choose," said The London Daily Express, adding: "You must believe that he will choose wisely. The King, through war and peace, strike and stress, has borne his part in the eyes of all men as a son of Kings should do and since he took the cloak of kingship he has deepened the channels of our emotions towards him."

MARRIAGE AS DUKE
"There is a way out," suggested The London News-Chronicle, Liberal.

"King Edward should agree to marry Mrs. Simpson in his capacity as Duke of Cornwall or Lancaster, rather than make her Queen of England; at the same time he should acquiesce to an act of exclusion, passed by Parliament, barring from succession to the throne any heirs of his marriage."

EASING OF TENSION
Lessening of the crisis was indicated by The Manchester Guardian, often described as the most influential provincial newspaper. It said:

"Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's assurance in the House of Commons that there was no constitutional difficulty may legitimately be heard as the present confirmation of the hope all of us have been cherishing—that no direct conflict between the wishes of the King and the advice of his ministers would arise."

"CENSORIOUS CRITICS"
The London Daily Mail asserted the country "resents the one-sided attacks which have been made by censorious critics who have shown an utter want of human understanding, respect and pity."

"Abdication is out of the question," The Daily Mail stated. The London Telegraph declared: "It matters in the highest degree, matters radically, matters constitutionally, that the first lady in the land shall be untouched by such (Turn to Page 11, Col. 5)

Canadian Press
London, Dec. 4.—Lincoln Ellsworth, United States explorer, vigorously denied today reports he had bought the EP ranch at High River, Alta., from King Edward.
"This story about me buying the King's ranch is all nonsense," Mr. Ellsworth told The London Daily Herald. "It's true I saw the King. He is very interested in exploration and that's all we talked about."

ROYAL FAMILY IN SECLUSION

Canadian Press
London, Dec. 4.—All members of the royal family have resolved for the time being to remain in strict seclusion.

This was emphasized today with the cancellation by the Princess Royal of an engagement to open a boys' club at Bonchester. It was intimated the princess was "unavoidably prevented" from being there.
It was presumed members of the royal family would maintain this attitude until the current grave constitutional issue between the King and the cabinet is settled.

THIRTY PLANES BOMB MADRID

Defenders Turn Machine Guns on Fascist Raiders; Insurgent Troops Attack on Wide Front

Associated Press
Madrid, Dec. 4.—Thirty Fascist bombers broke an unusual sleet-like hail that had settled over the capital today when they appeared suddenly over the Seales sector and loosed one of the fiercest air raids of the siege.

The strange calm over the city shattered with startling fury as defenders caught their first glimpse of the raiders and turned machine guns set up in the streets on the planes.

An earlier attack by the insurgents along the Casa del Campo had tapered off into the non-day quiet. Three previous air raids had given Madrilenos a frenzied night.

After Telling Commons Government Will Not Introduce Bill to Allow Monarch to Wed Mrs. Simpson Without Altering Present Succession to Throne, Baldwin Talks With King at Belvedere, and, Returning to London, Drafts Declaration to Cabinet on Whether Sovereign Will Abandon Plan to Wed

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 4.—Prime Minister Baldwin returned to London tonight from an audience at Fort Belvedere with King Edward and went immediately to Number 10 Downing Street to prepare a statement to the cabinet.

The Associated Press said the statement dealt with the decision of the King whether he would give up his plan to marry Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Earlier the Prime Minister told the House of Commons the Dominions would not give their assent to any legislation permitting the King to marry Mrs. Simpson without altering the existing succession to the throne.

Mr. Baldwin said his government would not introduce such legislation. The Prime Minister had spent fifty-five minutes with the King at Belvedere in what was reported to be an appeal to the monarch to give up his determination to go through with the marriage.

DISCUSSION TOMORROW

The Baldwin statement will be laid before the cabinet tomorrow. Obviously tired and with face drawn, Baldwin paused for a moment before entering his official home, and said:

"That will be all for tonight. The Home Secretary, Sir John Simon, is coming here at 9:30 o'clock and then there will be nothing more tonight. The Archbishop of Canterbury also was a visitor to King Edward at Fort Belvedere. He spent a half hour with the monarch."

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Dec. 4.—The cabinet declines to yield on the King's wish to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

Prime Minister Baldwin told the House of Commons just before adjournment at 4 p.m. today that the government is not prepared to introduce legislation which would allow the King to marry his American-born friend without altering the existing succession to the throne.

Mr. Baldwin told the House further that from inquiries he had made he was satisfied that the assent of the Dominions would not be forthcoming to such a proceeding.

So in a hushed House the Prime Minister disposed of any idea of a morganatic marriage, which he said had no place in new Great Britain.

Mr. Baldwin said a marriage of the King to Mrs. Simpson automatically would make her Queen unless there was special legislation, and this the government would not bring in.

The cabinet thus stands by its guns. But rumors gathered force that an acceptable way out would be found.

It also became known that Mrs. Simpson had left England last night and proceeded to France.

Yesterday rumors were current that the crisis might lead to the abdication of the King. Government authorities were said to be considering a change in the Act of Succession, which would be necessary in the event of abdication.

QUESTION OF SUCCESSION
Mr. Baldwin's statement emphasized that the crux of the situation today was legislation dealing with the particular case of a marriage between the King and Mrs. Simpson. The legislation would be designed to make it possible for Mrs. Simpson to marry the King without any issue of their marriage succeeding to the throne.

"His Majesty's government are not prepared to introduce such legislation," said the Prime Minister amid cheers.

MRS. SIMPSON MAY RETURN

Canadian Press
London, Dec. 4.—The Associated Press said today that, according to a usually authoritative source, Mrs. Wallis Simpson left England last night only after assurances that King Edward would not abdicate.
This source said she would remain away from the country until after the King's coronation.
This was still her position late in the afternoon, it was stated, when she stopped at a French village and telephoned to Fort Belvedere.
The telephone call, however, occurred before Prime Minister Baldwin's statement to the Commons.

ADVICE FROM ALL MINISTERS

Cape Times, South Africa, Says All Dominions Share
British Crisis

Canadian Press via Reuters
Capetown, Dec. 4.—The Dominion aspects of the constitutional crisis were emphasized in editorial comment by The Cape Times today.

The Times referred to the "constitutional aspects which are the deep concern of each of the Dominions as well as Great Britain" and said:
"In terms of the Statute of Westminster, the assent of all the Dominion Parliaments as well as of the United Kingdom Parliament would, in the unhappy event of abdication, be required for any change in the law of succession."

ADVICE FROM DOMINIONS
The paper declared it was the right, if not the positive duty, of the Dominion governments to tender their advice to His Majesty, and added that the advice of his ministers in each of his Dominions as well as those in the United Kingdom would in all probability be unanimous.
Stressing this aspect of the matter, The Times added:
"It might mean that the terribly serious constitutional crisis which would arise in the United Kingdom in the unhappy, almost unbelievable, event of His Majesty's acting in conflict with the advice of his ministers would be repeated in each of the Dominions."

Mrs. Simpson Is In France; Goes To South Coast

The automobile in which she left the dock had been brought across the Channel aboard the ship.

Associated Press
London, Dec. 4.—Departure from England of Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, central figure in the controversy between the King and the Cabinet, today provided a new development in the constitutional crisis.
During the night Mrs. Simpson went from Belvedere Castle to France, crossing the English Channel by steamship.

Informal quarters said she herself had urged her removal from the scene. These sources declared it would ease the situation.
The separation of King Edward and Mrs. Simpson will be only temporary, authoritative sources said, depending on the final outcome of the constitutional crisis. A possibility still was seen that the King might be forced to abdicate if he persisted in his friendship for the one-time Baltimore belle.

Mrs. D. B. Merryman, who came here to act as chaperone for her niece until her divorce decree from Ernest Simpson becomes final, remained in London. She was expected, however, to join Mrs. Simpson on the continent shortly.

TRAVELS AS "MISS BURKE"
Four trunks and other Simpson luggage labelled "Miss Burke" were placed aboard a channel steamer leaving Dover at 1 p.m. to be sent to Mrs. Simpson.

It was learned the King placed Mrs. Simpson in a big motor car for her journey from Belvedere last night. Accompanied by a bodyguard and one of the King's secretaries, she was escorted through the darkness to Newhaven, on the south coast of England, where she boarded the steamer for France.

The King arranged for her to go to the Versailles villa of Lady Mendl, wife of Sir Charles Mendl, who is attached to the British embassy.

Stolen Clothes Are Recovered

The large haul of clothing made by thieves who broke into the premises of the Capital Cleaners on Wednesday evening was nearly all recovered by city police yesterday evening.
The clothing was found by a boy on Whittier Avenue, Saanich, his father reporting the discovery to city police. Suits, overcoats and pants were found in a heap in a ditch at the side of the road.

New Batch of Neutrality Declarations For Con- stitution Drafted For Con- gress Session in January

Associated Press
Washington, Dec. 4.—A host of constitutional amendments—most of them designed to keep the United States out of war or to broaden federal control over agriculture and industry—will be introduced in the new Congress January 5.

Senator Logan, Kentucky Democrat, announced today he would ask approval of an amendment firmly establishing the right of Congress to control "production of any product which may move in or affect interstate or foreign commerce."
Another constitutional change, permitting the voters to veto any declaration of war in a popular referendum, also would be introduced early in the session, Mr. Logan said.

A more drastic neutrality measure, forbidding the United States to engage in any war or even to prepare for armed conflict, will be offered by Senator Frazier, Republican, North Dakota.

A typical proposal was the fifteen-word amendment submitted by Senator Ashurst, Arizona, Democrat:
"The Congress shall have power to make laws to regulate agriculture, commerce, industry and labor."

Candidates To Speak Tonight

Busy Session For Aspirants
For Civic Office This Evening

Civic election candidates, making their swing around the city this evening for addresses at Gonzales Bay and over the air, school trustee candidates will appear before the Parent-Teachers' Association at Oaklands School.

The mayoralty candidates, Mayor David Leeming and Alderman Andrew McGavin, will speak in that order at a meeting sponsored by the Gonzales Bay Community Association in Macpherson Jenkins School.
The meeting is scheduled to start shortly before 7:45 o'clock. They will be followed at that meeting by all other candidates for civic office, who wish to voice their platforms.

School trustee aspirants will make an early start at Oaklands, where they are expected to speak between 8 and 8:30 o'clock, before journeying to Margaret Jenkins School.
Immediately after speaking at the latter school, the mayoralty candidates are scheduled to lead a parade of candidates to CPCT, where an election programme will start at 8:30 o'clock. Following the two mayoralty candidates, school trustees standing for re-election will be heard before the microphone is turned over to other candidates, who will speak in alphabetical order.

FIRE LOSSES CONTINUE LOW

Below Those of 1935; Total
Only $20,074

Fire losses in Victoria this year continued far below those of last year, according to figures released by the fire department today.
The total loss for this year is $77,683 less than last year. The 1935 loss is $20,074 and the 1936 loss to the end of November was $97,757.
The November loss this year was $1,117, compared with $1,622 in November last year. Thirty-four alarms were answered. Five were to fires where there was property loss and eight were false alarms.

Prowled Room As Woman Slept

A bold thief who broke into the home of Mrs. A. Gray, 1135 Catherine Street, last night prowled around her bedroom while she was asleep, according to a city police report.
Entrance was gained to the house through an open bedroom window which the thief reached with a ladder. He prowled several rooms of the dwelling before leaving. Mrs. Gray listed in the loss a pearl brooch, an amethyst necklace with gold chain, a brooch of brilliants, a pearl necklace and an old-fashioned gold bangle.

London, Dec. 4.—Between 200 and 300 youths, carrying banners bearing the inscription, "God Save the King," and shouting "We want our King," were dispersed by police tonight as they tried to push their way into Downing Street.

"Dignity of Crown Cannot Be Trifled With," Mel- bourne Argus Says

Canadian Press via Reuter's
Sydney, Australia, Dec. 4.—First comments on the constitutional crisis, the swift developments of which have taken the Commonwealth by surprise, appeared in Australian papers today.

"Not even the King can be allowed to do harm, however unintentionally, to the revered institution of the British monarchy," said The Sydney Morning Herald. However, "personal sympathy with the King is not wanting," the paper added.

"The whole empire is concerned," The Herald said. "Its existence depends upon the throne and the personal character of its occupant, and the wisdom of his acts are part of the bonds uniting us."
"It is probably true to say that no community of the Empire, great though its affection and sympathy for the King personally are, would approve the King's marriage, as King, with the lady mentioned," said The Herald.

"For the Prime Minister there is no escape from his obvious duty," MELBOURNE OPINION

The Melbourne Argus paid tribute to the King's place in the affections of his people, but said it was impossible to dissociate individual actions of the man from the duties and responsibilities of the King.
"The dignity of the crown cannot be trifled with without inflicting the gravest hurt," The Argus said. "We pray nothing will happen to break the link between the people and the crown."

ADVICE OF MINISTERS

The Sydney Telegraph declared "all believe the welfare of the Empire, irrevocably linked to the Crown and the British system of democracy, can only survive when the throne is content to act on the advice of ministers and remain aloof from political hazards."
The Melbourne Herald said "the King has responsibilities which pre-empt him over his personal sentiments."

Canadian Press via Reuter's
Melbourne, Australia, Dec. 4.—The constitutional crisis arising between the King and the British cabinet evoked further comment in Australian morning newspapers today.

"The empire looks toward the King with a troubled heart," said The Melbourne Sun. "He has faced the problem frankly, but sympathy must give way to concern for the well-being and prestige of the throne, which is the keystone of British ideals. Kingship links the Dominions with the homeland. Its obligations transcend personal wishes."

GREAT SACRIFICE

The Sydney Morning Herald said: "The King's choice lies between the greatest sacrifice a man can make and a surrender which widespread human sympathy would find difficulty in approving. Never would the whole nation be asked to make a sacrifice in such a sacrifice by comparison with a surrender."
"Abdication would seem pitiful and a compromise morganatic marriage so ignominious as not to be countenanced, for it would fall short of kingly grace and be even more disappointing than outright abdication."

No Constitution Change, Says Baldwin

What the King wanted was to marry Mrs. Simpson without her being Queen. But Mr. Baldwin's statement made it clear the government was definitely opposed to this.

HOUSE OF LORDS MEETS BRIEFLY

Associated Press
London, Dec. 4.—The House of Lords had a brief session today as members of the House of Commons, just across the lobby, engaged in debate on the constitutional crisis.
The Lords sat in session for two minutes during the reading of a bill dealing with arterial highways and then adjourned.

No word of the dispute between the King and cabinet has yet been introduced in the upper house officially.

INCOME TAX REVENUE UP

Collections in Canada So Far Are $18,011,286 Above Last Year's Figures; Victoria and Rest of British Columbia Gain

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Income tax collections in Canada so far in this fiscal year have shot upward more than $18,000,000, Hon. J. L. Halsey, Minister of National Revenue, announced yesterday evening.

In the eight months ended November 30, collections were $87,748,040, an increase of $18,011,286 over $69,736,754 in the same months of last year.

In Toronto the total jumped from $22,001,851 to $29,468,296. Montreal was in second place with $23,502,686 compared with $20,656,875.

Other districts, with last year's figures in brackets, follow: Charlottetown $578,849 ($520,683), Halifax $1,174,127 ($1,021,401), Saint John $828,965 ($644,832), Quebec $1,166,794 ($864,175), Ottawa $7,096,529 ($4,197,158), Kingston $194,757 ($168,716),

Einstein Has New Discovery

Famous Scientist Finds Space Around Star Is Magnifying Glass

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
New York, Dec. 4.—Professor Albert Einstein yesterday gave the world another mathematical discovery, a celestial wonder new to astronomy, showing the space near a star is a magnifying glass.

It means that one star can, with improved astronomical instruments, be a magnifying glass, or telescope, for better seeing of another, more distant star. The reason, he explains, is the bending of light rays when they pass near the sun or any other massive star.

The rays, he finds, collect in this space as they would in a lens. Then at certain distant points the rays so collected are focused, like the focus of a spy glass, opera glass or telescope. Human eyes, at the right point in space, would see this star-focused image. There are stars suitably lined up, one far behind the other, to be seen in this manner from the earth. But Professor Einstein points out that present optical equipment and the present resolving power of telescopes are not sufficient to make these space images visible.

He announced the "lens" effect in Science, official journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Citizen Group Ousted By Reich

Canadian Press from Havas
Berlin, Dec. 4.—Thirty-nine persons, including the novelist Thomas Mann and a dozen other notables, were deprived of German citizenship together with their wives and children in a decree issued by Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick yesterday. All their property was confiscated.

The government also followed up its recent expulsions of foreign newspaper correspondents by expelling Walter Bing, a French citizen, who lost a leg while fighting in the ranks of the German army during the Great War. He has been Berlin sports correspondent of the Paris Soir.

Carl Robson, correspondent of The Morning Post of London, was expelled Wednesday.

Mann, Nobel Prize winner in 1929, is an anti-Nazi who has been living in voluntary exile at Kussnacht, Switzerland. Among his celebrated works are "The Magic Mountain," "Buddenbrooks" and "Joseph and His Brethren."

Other notables who lost their citizenship are Max Braun, former anti-Nazi leader in the East, the former Social-Democrat deputy Wilhelm Sollmann, the former Communist deputy Wilhelm Koenen, the noted writer Rudolf Olden and the dramatist Hans von Zwen.

Relief Group Is Given Explanation

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Dec. 4.—About 200 single unemployed men marched to the Vancouver city police station late yesterday and demanded action be taken to supply relief to thirty of their number who had come to the city since November 15. They left peacefully, however, when informed they could not see Police Chief W. W. Foster.

On November 16 Hon. Norman Rogers, federal Minister of Labor, made arrangements with the British Columbia government whereby single unemployed men who had come to the province prior to November 15 would be placed in forestry camps. It is expected the first groups will be sent to the camps within a few days and that 2,000 will be installed in their new homes by the end of the year.

In the meantime they are being given a small relief allowance until the scheme gets under way.

Hoover in Call To U.S. Engineers

Associated Press
New York, Dec. 4.—Former President Herbert Hoover foresees that the United States is headed for another depression "unless we can bring the intelligence and courage of the engineer into industrial statesmanship."

Speaking before the American Society of Mechanical Engineers Wednesday evening, Mr. Hoover said industry must find a way to pass on to the consumer the lowered costs made possible by labor-saving machinery.

Cotton Mills' Wages Increased

Canadian Press
Montreal, Dec. 4.—Increase of 6 per cent in the wages of some 3,300 employees in seven mills of Canadian Cottons Limited was announced yesterday by company officials. Mills affected are three at Cornwall, Ontario, and one each at Hamilton, Ontario; Marysville, N.B.; and Milltown, N.B., as well as the plant of the Cornwall & York Cotton Mills company Limited at Saint John, N.B.

Japan Denies Joining Fascists

Associated Press
Tokyo, Dec. 4.—Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita told foreign correspondents yesterday Japan had not joined any Fascist bloc of nations.

Referring to the German-Japanese agreement against the Komintern, Arita said: "If this agreement were confined to Japan and Germany alone, there might be some basis for such an allegation, but an invitation to join was extended to any and all powers, including democratic America and Great Britain."

GERMANY NOW RATINGS FATS

Reich Workers Will Get Preference in Distribution Under Four-year Plan

Associated Press
Berlin, Dec. 4.—Workers' wants must take precedence over bourgeois stomachs, according to a decree issued yesterday rationing fats under the Reich's four-year plan for economic rehabilitation.

The consumption of fat by the German people is at present considerably larger than in pre-war times," the decree said. "Therefore it is essential that German, hard-working laboring people, standing in the forefront of the four-year plan, should be the first to receive necessary amounts of fats."

Under the decree, retail dealers must supply lists of their customers to the government, from which it will be decided how many persons in each household should be served fats. The government will then apportion available butter, margarine and lard.

THREE KILLED IN TYPHOON

Thirty-two Missing in Philippines; Property Damage Put at $1,225,000

Associated Press
Manila, Dec. 4.—Three persons were reported killed by Wednesday's typhoon and property damage in Nueva Ecija province alone estimated today by officials at $1,225,000. The reports came in slowly over crippled communication lines.

Thirty-two persons were unaccounted for. There was an unconfirmed report that twenty miners were entombed.

Tractor Tires Are Duty Free

Tariff Board Rules on Appeal; Plated Silverware to Pay High Rate

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Rubber tires for farm tractors "are entitled to entry under tariff item 409M"—in other words, free, according to a ruling of the Tariff Board handed down here yesterday.

The ruling was made on the appeal by the North American Lubrication Co. Ltd. The company had appealed from the commissioner of customs to the Tariff Board, the commissioner having ruled such articles dutiable under 618 of the tariff schedule as 22 1/2 per cent British preference, 30 per cent intermediate and 35 per cent general.

PLATED SILVERWARE
Electro-plated silverware is enumerated under two items of the schedule, one imposing a higher rate than the other. The board ruled, in response to an appeal by Roden Brothers Ltd. on behalf of the silver-plate manufacturers of Canada that this commodity was dutiable under the higher rate.

Under item 362 electro-plated silverware enters under an import of 30 per cent British preference, 37 1/2 per cent intermediate and 45 per cent general, while within 362C the articles enter at 17 1/2, 33 1/3 and 45 per cent. "Being enumerated in the tariff under two names or descriptions," said the board, "and there being a difference of duty under the British preferential tariff, this commodity is by virtue of section 60 of the Customs Act dutiable under the higher rate from time to time in force."

Charles L. Thrasher, Artist, Loses Life

Canadian Press
New York, Dec. 4.—Charles Leslie Thrasher, forty-seven, whose drawings have appeared on the front pages of Liberty and The Saturday Evening Post for several years, died yesterday at Port Jefferson, N.Y., from injuries received when fire destroyed his summer home at Oldfield, N.Y., last Sunday.

Mr. Thrasher and his wife, Janet, were rescued unconscious from the house of T. McFergus Cooper, neighbor and fellow artist. Mrs. Thrasher was released from hospital yesterday after treatment for minor burns.

French Deputies Are Near Blows

Tumultuous Scene Follows Debate on Causes of Salengro Suicide

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Dec. 4.—French deputies again came to the point of blows during parliamentary debate yesterday as bitterness flared between rightists and leftists over the situation which led to the suicide of Interior Minister Roger Salengro.

Hurling recriminations back and forth across the chamber, the deputies caused such turmoil that former Premier Edouard Herriot adjourned the session until afternoon in his capacity as chamber president.

An attempted assault on Pierre Bloch, Socialist, by Alphonse Barbot, Conservative, climaxed a crescendo of argument. Attendants rushed in to separate the two deputies.

The government meanwhile pressed for an early vote on Premier Blum's anti-landlord and press law revision bill, designed to halt such attacks as those which Salengro said had broken his spirit.

The stormy scenes during the debate which cleared Salengro of charges he was a wartime army deserter were repeated yesterday. Communist jeered at rightist Deputy Philippe Henriot, charging he fled from Paris to Bordeaux during the German invasion. "Slacker! Back to Bordeaux!" they shouted.

"We will use your own law to prosecute you! Henriot shouted back, referring to the new press bill.

FREE BEER FOR BREWERY MEN

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Dec. 4.—Free beer three times a day for employees in Alberta breweries is provided for under an order-in-council published in the Alberta Gazette yesterday. The order sets out a schedule of wages and hours of labor for workers in breweries in the province.

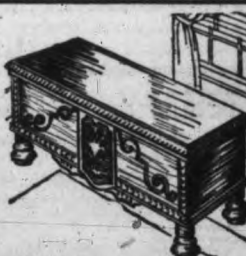

The order, which will become operative within ten days under provisions of the Industrial Standards Act, states employers are to supply employees with beer once in the forenoon, at noon and once in the afternoon.

With certain exemption the hours of labor for all employees in the industry shall be eight hours a day and forty-four hours a week.

"I like Leeds," says King Edward VIII, looking somewhat hungrily at the archway of leeks erected in his honor (the vegetables are an emblem of Wales, of which he formerly was Prince) at a co-operative farm of the Welsh Land Settlement Society. So he ordered some sent to his residences. The occasion for his visit was a tour of inspection of the poverty-stricken mining regions of South Wales, where he assured throngs that cheered him he would do something about their situation if at all possible.

How Far?

VICTORIA IS TO LOSE ANOTHER
Dominion Government Bureau. A few days ago it was learned the Farm Loan Board and its staff were being transferred to New Westminster to be placed under a new appointee; now, the Indian Office, established here since Confederation, is to go to Vancouver.

Federal political power and patronage control in this province, now centred in Vancouver, irrespective of which party is in power, has shown itself determined, during the last several years, to corral all government offices for the mainland. Departments have been moved across the Gulf to fill space in vacant office buildings and provide jobs for followers.

It is high time Victoria found out from the responsible ministers how far this sort of thing is to be allowed to go. Such centralization is not being practiced anywhere else in Canada.

If Victoria in the present instances is experiencing the results of having voted "wrong" at election time—we want to know that, too.

The President's Neighborliness

THE GOODWILL VISIT OF PRESIDENT Roosevelt to Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires and his speeches to those important cities serve to emphasize the fact that there is another large section of this vast continent with which the United States has an unbroken record of friendship of more than a century.

In Rio de Janeiro, Mr. Roosevelt expressed his gratification that these countries "have been able by the exercise of goodwill, good temper and good sense to conduct the whole course of their relations without clash or conflict or ill feeling."

In Buenos Aires, of course, the President spoke before the Pan-American Conference, and Mr. David Lawrence, in his Washington dispatch, said that some day historians will proclaim it as the finest speech on peace and democracy that has come from an American President since the immortal address of Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg. It was different, of course, because, thanks to modern science, Mr. Roosevelt spoke to the whole world as an audience.

Those of us who have been for many years supporting the philosophy that the depression's disorders and social disturbances can best be cured by the revival of world intercourse and the exchange of goods, says Mr. Lawrence, will derive peculiar satisfaction that Mr. Roosevelt has expressed himself so forcefully against the self-containment school of thought, the exponents of economic nationalism.

"The welfare and prosperity of each of our nations," says Mr. Roosevelt, "depends in large part on the benefits derived from commerce among themselves and with other nations, for our present civilization rests on the basis of an international exchange of commodities. It is no accident that attempts to be self-sufficient have led to falling standards for their people and to ever-increasing loss of the democratic ideals in a mad race to pile armament on armament."

Continues Mr. Lawrence: "Mr. Roosevelt has described the road to Fascism with telling accuracy, and he has appealed for liberal trade policies in line with the reciprocity treaties negotiated by Secretary Hull as a 'beacon in a storm of economic madness which has been sweeping over the entire world during these later years.'"

The President's reference to reciprocal trade treaties strikes a responsive chord in Canadian business. When this year passes into history the new fiscal arrangement between this country and the United States will have been on trial for twelve months. At the present rate of the monthly increase in the value of the business done between the two countries the year's total should be approximately $200,000,000 greater than that of 1935.

With the knowledge that the results of a bad fiscal system produce economic chaos, putting a strain on democratic government, Mr. Roosevelt finished his address on this note: "If within ourselves and among ourselves we can give greater freedom and fulfillment to the individual lives of our citizens, the Democratic form of representative government will have justified the high hopes of the liberating fathers."

Eyesight and Modern Art

MOST PERSONS WHO ARE NEAR-sighted or have astigmatism get themselves eyeglasses to correct the visual defect and go unhampered about their business. These rather common defects, however, are held responsible for some of the vagaries that puzzle the ordinary viewer of modern art.

How nearsightedness or astigmatism in the artist's eyes can make him draw or paint pictures that look queer to the rest of us is now explained by a noted eye specialist, Dr. Lloyd Mills, in a report to the scientific journal, Archives of Ophthalmology.

What we see, he explains, is a combination of images produced by the central part of our eye-lenses and the peripheral or outer parts of them. In order to draw a picture of things as we see them, the artist must preserve the normal proportions of these two kinds of sight in his drawing. This is particularly so since it is the peripheral sight that is most sensitive to color. When the artist does not have normal vision, his pictures may appear "queer."

Dr. Mills first became interested in the effect of eyesight on art when an artist came to him for treatment. This man produced paintings which were remarkable for fine use of color but the drawings were sometimes distorted. This turned out to be due to astigmatism, but unfortunately, when glasses were supplied that corrected the astigmatism, the artist had trouble in getting the color effects with which he had previously had so much success.

Short-sightedness, a condition found particularly among the educated classes, is especially frequent among artists, and has much effect upon their drawings. In short-sighted individuals, the acuity of vision with the central part of the eye is decreased, and they are forced to use that of the edges of the eye. This, thinks Dr. Mills, accounts for the work of Cezanne, cubist, Pissarro had repeated abcesses of the corner of the eye, and Van Gogh and Gauguin had mental diseases, to which he ascribes their drawings' eccentricities.

Report from Alberta

ACCORDING TO PREMIER ABER-hart's own words things are not going any too well for his brand of Social Credit in Alberta. "I trust," he said in a speech reported in his Social Credit newspaper the other day, "that the people will understand if I am unable to do all they might expect."

This is not at all encouraging to the faithful, some of whom may still have sufficient optimism to conjure up visions of the once-promised $25-a-month social dividend cheques. A few months ago Mr. Aberhart had been talking of speeding up so as to get his system going within a year or fourteen months, instead of the eighteen months as planned. Recently, however, it has been noted that his talks have ignored anything specific on dividends. "I can't say," Mr. Hans E. Wright, Social Creditor, M.P.P. for Lethbridge, replied to questions regarding expectations of the all-important dividend. Mr. Aberhart remarked in Calgary that if he were given five years he would not need to "rush so much."

This would seem to be just too bad for the hopeful of Alberta. It will be even more discouraging for those who have visions of gaining the popular support at the polls in the next election to move British Columbia into the Social Credit column.

Home Ownership

DELEGATES TO THE CONVEN-tion of the Association of Real Estate Boards, in the south, emphasized the need for the broadest possible home ownership. Certainly the realty men here as well as elsewhere should get the support of all classes in their effort to have that need met.

It need not be repeated, of course, that the home-owning citizen is precisely the sort of solid, substantial citizen which a country most needs. What might better be emphasized is the fact that thousands of our Canadian families are poorly housed, and that the building industry would be more than glad to supply homes for them if needs and purchasing power could just be tied together.

A great home-building boom, such as is sought to be stimulated by the Dominion Housing Scheme, would be one of the best things that could happen. It would mean a better life for vast numbers of people, and it would furnish our rising prosperity with the most solid kind of base, with its effects felt through all industries.

Notes

If a machine that displaces ten men makes new jobs for twenty, why is it called a labor-saving machine?

It is not a boom yet. No one is yet subdividing, putting up big arched gateways and laying cement walks in cow pastures.

"A general tightening will stop chatter in the back of the car." Another method advocated by some is to leave the wife at home.

"A young Italian has learned how to increase his blood pressure by a mental effort." Others have to listen to an Il Duce balcony speech.

The courts have decided that $300 is not too much for a funeral. Anyhow, in just a little while after, one would escape that much in taxes.

Employment in Canada, according to Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures, at the beginning of November showed a continuation of the generally upward tendency in evidence during the last six months. The improvement resulted in a higher level of employment on the first day of November than in any other month since November, 1930. The payrolls of 10,054 reporting firms showed 1,052,985 persons employed, compared with 1,044,380 at the beginning of October. A year ago 9,482 employers reported staffs aggregating 1,012,103.

The London newspapers did not print anything about the Mrs. Simpson affair until it "broke" in a big way two days ago, but they were not by any means asleep while developments were under way during the last several months. Every London paper, although not presenting a line, had been "covering" every detail of the story as it if they were carrying the headlines of the day. London now tells of how the larger dailies there even had entire "Simpson" staffs who did nothing but follow the two principals in the case and accumulate details for the private information of their editors and publishers for use when the time came. That time came this week and they were, as always, well prepared.

Loose Ends

The Barnacles in the ocean and in the Observatory have it all figured out—The dictators look fine at a distance but we shouldn't be too impressed—Walter Winchell is dead and now we appreciate him.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE BARNACLES

OUT IN the further reaches of the universe the distant nebulae, 500,000,000 light years away, look like red lights "disappearing down a road-way at night." Dr. Edwin P. Hubble of Mount Wilson Observatory, California, has been worrying about them a lot lately and has produced a profound theory. He says that either the tail lights are at the boundary of creation, which is so limited in size that you can now see the rim of it with a big telescope; they are not near the rim and there may be no rim at all. In other words, either they are or they are not, which seems to be conclusive.

The unhappy spectacle of the astronomers laying down theories about the size and shape of creation reminds one of Haldane's magnificent essay on "Possible Worlds." Speaking as one of the first half dozen scientists of our time, Haldane pictures man and the universe by describing the life of the barnacle. The barnacle, clinging to its rock, knows, of course, that there are only two dimensions, and that the universe ends at his back door. Nothing exists back of his rock. That is the boundary of space.

Sometimes the barnacles hold scientific conferences and discuss profoundly the question whether there is any other life in the universe besides barnacles. Generally the opinion is against it. The moving objects which the barnacles sometimes see in the water, it is generally agreed, are lifeless, though good to eat.

One or two daring spirits among the barnacles are inclined to think that some of the objects they have swallowed actually have life because of course, digestion, but, as the wiser barnacles point out, these objects can't be alive because life doesn't move about. It stays attached to a rock. It would die if it became detached, as has happened to some foolish barnacles in the past. So the accepted theory among the barnacles, confirmed by all the best minds, is that the universe is of vast extent, probably 100 feet wide, but ends definitely at the big black rock on the other side of the little bay. That is the rim of space. Beyond is nothing and behind is nothing and there are only two dimensions.

The barnacles, those who live in the sea and those who live in modern astronomical observatories, have it all figured out. This is very comforting.

THE WISE-ONES

APPARENTLY it is now realized among the Fascist nations that the German-Japanese alliance, aimed at Russia, and, of course, at democracy, has been a blunder of first magnitude. It has merely helped to solidify the anti-Fascist nations into a block much more powerful than Germany and Japan, a blunder like those of Kaiser Wilhelm which ruined Germany. This is heartening, not alone for its immediate effect on the world's peace, but in demonstrating a fact so obvious that we generally overlook it. The fact is that the Fascist dictators of the world are not superhuman, are not omniscient, are really very incompetent.

But, after seeing Mussolini grimace from a balcony so often, and the soft, sickly face of Hitler trying to frown like Jove, after seeing the populace cheer and the armies goose-step at their command, we have begun subconsciously to think that they must be pretty smart fellows. Mussolini swaggering about in uniform is undoubtedly a dashing figure compared with our own Mr. King in a top hat. Hitler can shoulder louder and look wilder than any man in our Parliament, even including some British Columbia members. These little Japanese military gentlemen who are running the empire at the moment, and carving up the East, have a knowing look about them, and we say to ourselves, "Now those lads know what they are up to, but our politicians, what do they know?"

Thus democracy is dull, inspiring. It is government usually by pugy, bald men in morning coats and it involves all sorts of disagreeable necessities like ward politicians, and cheap local patronage bosses and a great deal of dishonest pretence and greasy hypocrisy.

We get impatient with it when we hear that Hitler and Mussolini and the Japanese gentlemen never make mistakes, march on exactly according to schedule, march on to success and glory, while we trudge along slowly behind, wrangling about the constitution. It is a good thing, therefore, when the dictators stub their toes at the head of the march and fall flat on their impressive faces. It is a good thing for people to suspect occasionally that the dictators are generally mental cases, as they have been in through history, that a fat, disgusting fellow like Goering wouldn't be invited to dinner in this country, that the Fascist nations aren't marching on to glory at all, but most likely to ruin.

It is a good thing to realize that these fellows are not wicked and brilliant, but wicked and stupid. History will put them in their proper places among the comedians, and schoolboys will wonder why we held them in such awe.

SAD RETURN

IT WAS a melancholy home-coming for my friend Johnny. His favorite scavenger had died in his absence, died in Johnny's house, died of a mysterious disease, suddenly, in the night. Johnny's scavenger, as readers of this column ought to know by now, was named Walter Winchell. He lived at the bottom of the aquarium, on the sand, and worked so hard at his scavenging that the little glass receptacle was always clean, and all the tropical insects, angel fish, and sea anemones and Siamese fighting fish were happy and contented.

Walter's scavenging method was simple and effective, more efficient than any machine so far invented. He sat all day and all night at the bottom of the tank and sucked in a steady stream of sand. All the clean stuff was ejected through his gills and all the dirt went into Walter. What could be more satisfactory?

Walter occupied a rather humble station in life. The angel fish never descended to his level and the Siamese fighting fish used to avert their proud eyes as they passed near him. But here is the strange thing—as soon as Walter Winchell died all the angel fish, guppies and Siamese fighting fish died also because, without Walter to go into, the dirt went into the water and poisoned them. That, Johnny says, shows the social importance of the scavenger. The original Walter Winchell should take note of this affecting incident. This is the first time his possible social importance has been suspected.

While they regard oratory as boloney, men remain free. No man becomes a dictator till he can hypnotize the masses with language.

A typical husband is one who thinks other men petted too much by their wives while he is too much neglected.

It is simple. Maids love more boldly when men go to war, and fast cars have made life as uncertain as in war time.

No man becomes great if he can see two sides of every question, unless they are his side and the wrong side.

BISHOPS AND COWARDLY PRESS
Butterfield's Column in The Vancouver Daily Province

There is something rather ghastly in the action of the British press in waiting until a lesser Bishop—he of Bradford—has rebuked the King of England before they would follow their American colleagues into the field opened up by His Majesty's private affairs. The moment the Bishop opened his mouth the whole kennel yelped—because they felt the church was behind them.

It is a hard enough job to be a modern king without any real power, but forced at the same time to keep up the fiction that he has power, without being told by bishops and a cowardly press with whom you shall chat and have supper.

Even supposing that there is truth in the vague rumors about His Majesty's intentions, there are still plenty of authentic hints to the Crown, starting with the Duke of York, his daughters, the Duke of Kent and his son, the Duke of Gloucester and his possible family. The dynasty will not fall even if the King does not have royal heirs. He is entitled to his private life.

The worst feature, however, of the sudden press clamor is that with all the information at their disposal they pretended to know nothing until the Bishop of Bradford gave them the cue.

THE KING ALSO HAS RIGHTS

From The Star, London (By Cable)
Relief will be felt in every quarter and throughout the empire that the question of the King's marriage is now being openly discussed.

A king is no less a human being because of his office. He is as likely as other men to meet the lady of his choice and in these days—and no democrat will lament it—the lady is likely to be more distinguished by her personal qualities than by her dynastic qualifications. In the new block that the King is entitled to express his desire to make her his private life.

Why should he be denied the common happiness of mankind? We see no insuperable reason. The cabinet may tender him advice in one direction, but there is more than one way in which the interests of state and King can be reconciled. Talk of abdication does not alarm us, but it is, in fact, a form of disloyalty to the King and his people.

Even if, by honoring Mrs. Simpson with his hand, the King also made her his consort, the country and the empire would still stand in health and strength.

Time of discussion which swept around the world might create some temporary embarrassment, but there is no matter here which need involve the fate of the country.

SUNSHINE FLATS FOR ARMY

From a London Correspondent

A five-story block of modern flats, equipped with sun balconies, perambulator "garages," bathrooms, electric light and heating points, has been built for the War Office for married men stationed in London.

So important is the new block that the War Office has been inundated with queries from civilians, old and young, asking for details. This has resulted in a large notice being put up stating "All Flats Let."

The new quarters are Jubilee Buildings, Queen's Terrace, St. John's Wood. They will accommodate sixty-eight families.

There are bathrooms in every flat; kitchens have built-in cupboards and larders, a good deep sink, and chromium-plated taps. Every bedroom has a built-in wardrobe, tiled hearts and oak kerbs. The War Office has given much attention to the needs of the housewife, and as a result of this policy there are no rubbish shoots on every landing, electric points in each room, all floors covered with linoleum, and walls and paint in cream. There is also a cemented yard where children can play.

Married men in the Services have hitherto often found difficulty in obtaining lodgings for their wives and children.

A second big block of flats is also under construction at Woolwich. The flats in both blocks will be allocated according to the size of families. The largest family to be "fitted in" will be that of a man who has eight children.

GROWTH OF THE U.S.A.

From The Montreal Gazette

The growth of the United States has been phenomenal since the middle of the nineteenth century. In 1850 there were 23,260,638 people in the country, which number had increased to 50,262,382 in 1890. At the turn of the century the total was 76,129,408, and at the last census taking six years ago, 122,775,046.

All the indications are that the progress will continue for many years to come and that the United States will remain the largest white democracy in the world as regards of its people. The colored population is about 14,000,000, the white being away over the hundred-million mark. These figures should be taken into account when attention is drawn to the number of unemployed. Even at the worst period of the depression there were at most 15,000,000, or thereabouts, without jobs.

GOAT ATE PRINCE'S BOUQUET

From The Minneapolis Tribune

It was just at the close of the war in Flanders—Ypres—when the town was celebrating the German withdrawal, and the Prince of Wales, in officer's uniform, was on a crude platform in the town square with the mayor and other dignitaries. A small girl near me was chosen to present the Prince with a huge bouquet of flowers. As usual, he was fussing with his tie and fidgeting about. He turned the bouquet top-down and let it dangle behind him. A bully goat spotted it, mounted the platform and ate the flowers before the Prince realized what was happening. It was an incident that created great joy on the part of the happy holiday crowd that swarmed the square.

A NATION RESTORED

For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land. Then will I sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean: from all your filthiness, and from all your idols, will I cleanse you. A new heart also will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you a heart of flesh.

—Ezekiel xxxvi 24-26.

B. C. TELEPHONE COMPANY

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

DECEMBER 4, 1911

Apparently little the worse for their six days of isolation from the rest of the world and the fact that they were put on short rations last Friday owing to the supply of provisions growing low, the passengers of the Canadian Pacific steamer Tees, Capt. Gilliam, which anchored in Esquimalt Creek since Sunday night with her wheel stripped and her rudder broken, arrived in port this morning aboard the salvage steamer Salvor.

The school population of Victoria will double itself in eight years at the present rate of progress even if no extraordinary development takes place, according to statistical information which E. B. Paul, city superintendent of schools has given out.

The new Oaklands and Fairfield Park fire halls were scheduled to be taken over today by the fire department from the contractors in pursuance of the arrangements made by which the City Council will deduct from the contract price an amount to cover the cost of plumbing.

On Tuesday last letters of incorporation of joint stock companies to the Victoria Opera House Company Limited, organized with a capital of $250,000 in $5.00 shares.

London gave a magnificent send-off to the King and Queen on their departure for India recently on the route from Buckingham palace to Victoria station.

Unable to Meet Fund Instalment

The Saanich Council yesterday evening approved a proposal that the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee should this year withhold its yearly payment of $1,615 for sinking fund purposes.

The municipality also ordered payment of $1,100 as one half of an annual payment of $2,200 for interest charges, for which Saanich and Victoria are jointly responsible.

SAANICH SEEKS BUS SCHEDULE

Council Wants Full Data on New Lake Hill-Gorge Routing

Details of the proposed new schedule on the Lake Hill and Gorge bus routes will be sought by the Saanich Council next week from the Vancouver Island Coach Lines.

In making this request the council expressed its pleasure to hear any move designed to improve equipment, and service, and a special meeting will be called on Tuesday to consider the new schedule as soon as it is received.

The action followed a debate in which Councillors E. C. Warren and Leslie Passmore objected to the proposed service.

COMPROMISE PLAN
Their opposition to a motion of Councillor A. G. Lambbrick, favoring granting permission to the company to proceed with its plans, resulted in Reeve Crouch advancing the compromise suggestion, which was finally adopted.

Councillors Lambbrick, H. D. Coton and W. R. Woods voted against the suggestion.

Principal ground for the opposition was the fact the company had failed to produce a schedule for the new twenty-five minute service, which the opponents claimed could not be given.

The Coach Lines proposal is to install three new modern buses on the Lake Hill and Gorge lines, and institute a twenty-five minute service to replace the present thirty minute service. The new service would be a Lake Hill-depot-Gorge run and vice versa for the bus which leaves the Gorge. A bus will also leave the depot simultaneously with those from the outer terminal.

Councillors Warren and Passmore claimed the three-point run could not be made in twenty-five minutes.

Councillor Lambbrick favored giving the company an opportunity to try the new service. If new equipment was installed, so much the better, as long as the present service was maintained, he said. His resolution contained the reservation that the council would insist on the service being maintained as well as at present.

Councillors H. D. Coton, L. C. Hagan and W. R. Woods supported Councillor Lambbrick.

In reiterating their opposition Councillors Warren and Passmore said they could not understand why the company would not supply a copy of their proposed new schedule. They said transportation was a vital issue in Saanich, and should not be voted upon without copies of schedules before it.

REFUSE EXTRA RELIEF WORK

Additional Christmas Labor Declined For Saanich Workers

By a single vote the Saanich Council yesterday evening refused to give married men on relief an extra day's work before Christmas.

Councillors L. H. Passmore, Ward Seven; E. C. Warren, Ward Two, and John Watson, Ward One, voted for the extra day but were opposed by the rural wards' vote of Councillors L. C. Hagan, Ward Six; L. D. Coton, Ward Five; A. G. Lambbrick, Ward Three, and W. R. Woods, Ward Four. Councillor Passmore, who sponsored the move, thought the work could be given in view of the satisfactory financial position of the municipality and because he felt it was the humane thing to do at Christmas.

The question had been deferred for two weeks to inquire whether the government would pay its usual share towards such extra work.

Reeve Crouch reported the government had declined the request as it had declined several other similar approaches.

It was reported the extra day would cost Saanich $900 and those who defeated the motion felt it was useless to "take money from the poor for the poor."

Want All Data On New Police

Saanich Seeks Comparative Costs of Provincial and Municipal Bodies

For the benefit of ratepayers who will vote on the issue at the municipal elections in January, a committee of the Saanich Council will seek all information concerning comparative costs of provincial and municipal policing.

The following committee was named yesterday evening to interview Col. J. H. McMullin and seek full data on provincial figures: Councillor A. G. Lambbrick, chairman; Reeve Crouch, and Councillors L. H. Passmore, H. D. Coton and W. R. Woods.

The council received a letter from Col. McMullin in which he said he could only quote figures for salaries of a corporal and three men to police the municipality. The charge for salaries and uniforms would be $7,041. The council was informed that this figure was far from being complete as it did not include such items as court costs, transportation, and keep of prisoners.

Such a figure, it was stated, was far from what the cost would actually be and it was felt all available data should be given the people.

SOOKE

Sooke, Dec. 4.—The annual meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. Forrest on Tuesday evening with Mrs. K. Cairns in the chair. Financial report of the entertainment given in aid of the children's Christmas tree fund was read by the secretary and showed that together with donations a sum of $170 had been realized. Election of officers follows: President, Mrs. Ralph Strong; vice-president, Mrs. A. M. Acreman; secretary, Mrs. H. Whitehead; executive, Mrs. H. Slack and Mrs. C. A. Heigsen.

Forest Future Of B.C. Told

Rotarians Hear From George Melrose of New Development Fields

"Trees and trade go very closely together on the Pacific," George Melrose told the Rotary Club at its luncheon yesterday in the course of an address in which he pointed to a great future for British Columbia through the scientific development of its forest resources.

ocean basin which held three-fourths of the world's population. British Columbia had the forest resources, through ordinary development, to carry on its present timber product shipments indefinitely, he believed.

USE OF WASTE
But in addition, he said, the work of scientists was opening up a host of new fields through the proper use of what were at present waste products, amounting to 80 or 85 per cent of the whole tree.

A substitute for gasoline, pressed wood panels and other products; hats, dyes, textiles, acids, creosote, many chemicals, baking powder and even tooth paste could be obtained from the province's timber waste without increasing the total cut. In this new field he believed there lay the employment which British Columbia's youth was seeking. The work of the aims and objects committees of Rotary clubs was outlined by John Craig in a five-minute talk. The achievements of the committee, he said, were to see that no phase of Rotary work was either neglected or over emphasized, to give a balanced diet of Rotary information, and to distribute the work of programme organization more evenly.

MARKET NOTES

A delayed shipment of bananas arrived here yesterday. Dealers expect a shortage of ripe bananas this week.

Ten thousand boxes of Japanese oranges were placed on the local wholesale market yesterday. Wholesale prices of hot-house tomatoes advanced 50 to 75 cents a case today.

Grade A egg prices dropped two to four cents wholesale yesterday. Grade A large eggs are now 34 cents a dozen wholesale. Medium eggs are 30 cents and pullet eggs 28 cents a dozen.

Members of the Victoria Choral Union and orchestra are advised of the remaining rehearsals for the "Messiah" as follows: For chorus only, at 8:30 p.m. at the Memorial Hall, and for chorus and orchestra, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and 7:30 o'clock on Monday evening at Christ Church Cathedral. Entrance will be by the vestry door. Programmes for the performance on Wednesday evening next are selling rapidly and there is every indication of a large attendance.

LIGHTS HERALD CITY JUBILEE

Workmen Start on Decorative Scheme For Victoria

Through the efforts of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, the decorative lighting scheme for Victoria's Diamond Jubilee celebrations, next year, is well under way. Broad Street and the City Hall block today offered a fine example of the lighting system which will be installed on the main thoroughfares in the downtown area for the jubilee.

On Broad Street, between Yates and Fort Streets and Douglas Street, between Cormorant Street and Pandora Avenue, streamers of electric lights—three to a block—in a red, yellow and green color scheme, today were strung high over the roadways. From the centre streamer in each block will hang a large Neon star in alternate colors, corresponding with the colors of the streamers.

Vernon Ridgway, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's decorative lighting committee, reported this morning that forty members were working hard on the project. He said, providing they received co-operation from all the merchants, canvassing for the whole plan would be completed by next Monday.

The following streets will be finished and lights installed for Christmas: Douglas Street from Herald to Fort Streets; Government Street from Broughton to Yates Streets; Fort Street from Government to Blanchard Streets; Yates Street from Blanchard to Broad Streets.

The three blocks already installed will be lighted this evening.

It will require 4,000 bulbs to outfit the streamers in the whole plan. Mr. Ridgway said all the installation will be complete by the time of the scheduled coronation of King Edward VIII next May.

Malahat Branch Names Officers

Shawnigan Lake, Dec. 4.—Malahat branch of the Canadian Legion met in the S.L.A.A. hall on Tuesday, Comrade A. J. Duggan presiding.

Officers for 1937 will be as follows: President, J. C. Rathbone; first vice-president, J. B. Bell; second vice-president, G. G. Orr; executive committee, A. M. Perrins, A. J. Duggan and H. G. Webber; district council delegates, W. Fish, J. B. Bell and H. G. Webber; auditors, H. Grainger and R. Ingham; secretary-treasurer, A. J. Dyson.

A committee was appointed to take care of the Christmas hamper.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion held their meeting the same evening. Mrs. G. G. Orr occupying the chair.

The poppy campaign fund was a success, helping materially to fill the hamper for needy veterans at Christmas. Mrs. Booth of the provincial command B.E.S. forwarded a letter relative to the W.A. convention to be held in March of next year. At the conclusion of the meeting the annual meeting was held.

The new office bearers for 1937 are: President, Mrs. G. G. Orr; secretary, Mrs. J. Bell; treasurer, Mrs. C. Page; executive committee, Madames G. Woolf, D. Alexander, A. Sutton and A. Polmire.

The monthly meeting of the Malahat Branch of Trade was held in the S.L.A.A. hall, W. Mudge occupying the chair.

Correspondence relative to local matters was received from the Department of Public Works, Fisheries Department and the retail merchants. Owing to the lack of funds at the present time for road work, necessary repairs cannot be carried out. There is a possibility of fishing in the lake commencing on March 1 each year, instead of April 1. This matter will be taken up with the Fish and Game Association, the local board and the Fisheries Department.

Last year the Public Works Department partly cleaned the outlet of the lake into Millstream, but the work was not completed, and the department is being asked to finish the work in order to prevent flooding of the lake.

The entertainment committee is arranging for decorating and catering at the board's dance to be held December 18 in the S.L.A.A. hall.

Shrine Function Here Tomorrow

Many Nobles to Visit City For Fall Ceremonial of Gizeh Temple

Tomorrow Gizeh Temple of the Mystic Shrine will hold its fall ceremonial in Victoria. This will be the first occasion on which a ceremonial has been held in Victoria since 1930.

Other intervening functions have taken place at Vancouver, Nelson, Cranbrook and New Westminster.

Oecil W. Grievie of Vancouver will be here, accompanied by the brilliantly-uniformed patrol from that city, and on arrival of the Vancouver boat they will be met by Gizeh Temple Shrine band.

Among the distinguished visitors who will be here tomorrow will be Leonard Elder, potentate of Al Kadar Temple, Portland, with his recorder, Harvey Beckwith; Tom W. Holman, potentate of Nile Temple, Seattle, and recorder Frank Laxer.

The Olympic Peninsula Shrine Club of Port Angeles is chartering a special boat, and a party of twenty-five is expected to arrive in the afternoon.

The day's celebrations will conclude with a dance to be held in the Shrine Temple in the evening, under the auspices of Gizeh Temple band.

"The afternoon will see an influx of visiting nobles of the Mystic Shrine, not only from the mainland but from across the border and from many upland points.

on Extent of Social Disease in British Columbia

Prevalence of venereal disease in British Columbia was the subject of a statement issued today by Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, as a reply to Vancouver doctors, who disputed his assertion that one person in every five was suffering with, or from the effects of these diseases.

Dr. D. J. Miller, according to a press report, had said the number of syphilis cases would not exceed 15,000.

"Neither Dr. Miller's statement nor other expressions of astonishment," and questions which I have received lead me to believe that my original statement was incorrect," Dr. Weir declared. "That estimate of 150,000 cases (out of a population of 750,000) is supported by experts and consultants of the provincial board of health, who know whereof they speak. Truly the facts of the venereal disease are shocking and amazing when they come to light."

Dr. Weir explained that on the basis of opinions of national experts covering the general situation, plus what local figures are available, it was estimated that 7 1/2 per cent of the British Columbia population was suffering with or from syphilis infection and twice that number, 15 per cent, from gonorrhoea, indicating a total affected number of 150,000.

At the weekly meeting of the Victoria and District British-Israel Association, in the Foresters' Hall, at 8 o'clock, next Tuesday, the speaker will be Don MacKinnon. Mr. MacKinnon will discuss the subject of "Israel's Blindness."

NEW BUICK ON DISPLAY

Important Advances in Design and Construction
Are Noted

McLaughlin-Buick's reputation in the fine car field is sure to be enhanced by the beautiful new models for 1937 which are displayed today at the Davis-Drake Motors Limited, 900 Fort Street. There are four lines, varying in wheelbase and horsepower. Important advances in design and construction are claimed for the four series by General Motors Products of Canada Limited. Horsepower has been stepped up, acceleration and general performance are even more brilliant and the refinements that produced greater power have resulted also in better fuel economy.

Ontario anticipates increased McLaughlin-Buick business in Great Britain as well as in Canada. As a matter of fact, export models were on display at the Olympia in London to coincide with the first Canadian public presentation.

McLaughlin-Buick styling is entirely new for 1937. The radiator grille has horizontal bars rising to the hood top and sides, with the hood, top line and color carried down through the middle of the grille, produces a massive yet racy effect and at the same time meets practical modern requirements. A new McLaughlin-Buick emblem is carried

Builders Support Home Improvement

Meeting Attended By 150
From All Branches of Construction Work
Pledges Backing For Dominion Government Scheme

Support for the Dominion Government's home improvement plan was unanimously pledged last night by 150 representatives of all branches of building who joined in a supper meeting held in Spencer's dining-room under the auspices of the Victoria Builders' Exchange yesterday.

The vote came after the broader conceptions of the whole Dominion Housing Act had been outlined by E. J. Lecky, Vancouver, officer of the Canadian Construction Association, and the more technical details of the operation of the home improvement plan had been explained by G. Hamilton, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

It was announced that Colonel P. Brooke Stephenson had been appointed to head a committee to further home improvement work in this city.

Mr. Lecky believed that the promotion of improvement work with government aid would have a valuable effect on stimulating the expenditure of private funds to the same end. In the United States the government had contributed $400,000,000 to home improvement, but three times that amount had been spent privately. He believed the same thing would happen in Canada.

UNEMPLOYMENT AID

He added the large amount of repair and extension work that could with advantage be undertaken in Victoria would provide employment for many now on relief, and by doing so would help lower taxation on property.

In the course of his address, Mr. Lecky reviewed the manner in which the Canadian Construction Association had urged the Bennett and King governments first to undertake work on those federal projects which would have been carried out had it not been for the depression, and later to enter the private housing field.

The latter movement had led to the formation of the housing committee of the federal house which had brought in recommendations for a triple plan, first for the renovation and modernization of run-down buildings, second for the provision of low-rental houses for low wage earners, and third the stimulation of new house construction.

The second of these aims, which implied government subsidy, had not yet been implemented, but an announcement was expected at next January's session of Parliament, he said.

DOMINION HOUSING ACT

The third, in the form of the Dominion Housing Act proper, had not as yet gone far forward, largely because its provisions did not satisfy the loan companies, but a new move in which the Dominion government would guarantee a large proportion of the companies' loans was expected to set the scheme in movement, Mr. Lecky said.

Mr. Hartman in a brief address reviewed the workings of the home improvement plan from the point of view of the bank, and stressed the simplicity of the scheme's operation and the ease with which citizens with regular incomes could obtain loans. He believed there were many in and around Victoria who would wish to take advantage of the plan if they understood its operation better, and he urged the meeting to assist in supplying this information for the improvement of the city as a whole.

Mayor David Leeming, in thanking the two speakers, said the greatest obstacle to a revival of confidence in the building trades was in the imposition on land of charges which had no relation to land, and which were destroying values.

Alderman Ed Williams presided during the supper.

J. N. Anderson, taking the chair during the addresses, pointed to the large diversity of occupation of those attending, and paid special tribute to the work of the architects in the audience, urging full co-operation with them from contractors.

Wire Premier On Office Removal

The Victoria Builders' Exchange last night went unanimously on record as protesting the proposed transfer of the Department of Indian Affairs and Farm Loan Board offices from Victoria to Vancouver, and ordered a telegram sent to Prime Minister Mackenzie King containing a summary of its resolution.

The report, drafted by C. J. McDowell and H. M. McGivern, was presented at the end of a supper meeting in Spencer's dining room attended by 150 members of all branches of the building and allied trades.

The action was taken on the suggestion of the chairman, J. N. Anderson, vice-president of the exchange.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

SAILS WESTWARD BOUND.

On August 3, 1492, three small sailing ships left Palos, Spain, on a voyage that only criminals, promised their freedom, and the most hardened sailors would attempt. It was Christopher Columbus's westward voyage to "India" and his ultimate discovery of the New World.

The largest of these vessels, the Santa Maria, was of only 100 tons draft; the Pinta, owned by two men of Palos who served in the crew, had fifty-ton draft and the Nina, captained by Vincente Yanez Pinzon, was a forty-ton boat. Yet, for seventy days, these light ships sailed the Atlantic before they arrived at one of the islands off the coast of North America.

The Santa Maria, later, was wrecked on the Haiti shore. Martin Alonso Pinzon, captain of the Pinta, sailed off, hoping to beat Columbus to Spain and claim the honor of discovering America, and so Columbus had to get back on the smallest vessel, the Nina.

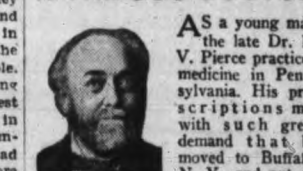

The fleet appears on the 1-cent stamp which the United States issued in 1893, commemorating the fourth centennial of the discovery of America.

FOUR WONDROUS NEW REASONS WHY:

"It's McLaughlin-Buick again!"

THIS new McLaughlin-Buick is "stepped up" in everything but price!

It is longer, lower, roomier than any McLaughlin-Buick of other years. And in an entirely new kind of Unisteel Turret Top Body by Fisher—it combines new safety and new silence with the most beautiful streamline styling in McLaughlin-Buick history.

New, too, is its great Straight Eight Engine—in power, in unequalled smoothness, in ability to carry out every command of your hand and foot without effort. Only three things are old... the Valve-in-Head principle, for thrift—the Straight Eight design for smoothness—and the McLaughlin-Buick dependability.

The tiptoe Hydraulic Brakes are even quicker, easier in action. The Knee-Action ride features new gliding comfort. Ride Stabilizers are built in both front and rear to end side-sway when cornering.

The shockless Centre-Control Steering has been improved. New frames have skyscraper rigidity. And the time-tried McLaughlin-Buick fundamentals like Torque-Tube drive and Sealed Chassis have been refined still further.

See and drive the 1937 McLaughlin-Buick today. It's a bigger, smarter, roomier Straight Eight at the same low price. And is there anyone who wouldn't be happier with a Straight Eight for his fine-car money!

You can buy your McLaughlin-Buick on the General Motors Instalment Plan, with monthly payments to suit your purse.

Bride Sues Her Groom's Parents

Los Angeles, Dec. 4. (AP)—A complaint by Golda Shance Keller that her parents-in-law misrepresented the virtues of their son, was held a valid cause of action in superior court.
Mrs. Keller asked $20,500 damages, setting forth that her position in Carthage, Mo., "came to Los Angeles for her marriage, and that her parents-in-law did not fulfill promises of financial aid.

The defendants, Harry M. Keller, wealthy contractor, and his wife represented their son, Ferris, as a "gentleman" of the "highest moral character" who was "lovely to girls," said the bride's complaint.

On the contrary, Mrs. Keller charged, she found that after the marriage last Oct. 24, her husband did not come up to advance notices.

Eastern Star Bridge-fair

A Christmas fair will be held in the K. of P. Hall, Broad Street, under the auspices of Victoria Chapter No.
17 O.E.S. on Tuesday Dec. 8. The fair will be opened by Mrs. J. R. Hartley at 2:30 p.m. There will be many attractions offered such as needlework and novelties, home cooking, candy, bingo, teacup reading, also a decorated Christmas tree which will take the form of a "Touch and Take." Afternoon tea will be served and an attractive programme of dancing given.
Contract and auction bridge will be played in the afternoon and evening.
Good prizes will be given.

Among those who have taken tables are: Mesdames G. Owen, G. Exley, J. Fawcett, S. H. Okell, H. A. Allen,
O. Copas, R. G. Fleming, R. Sedger,
Utteridge, S. Neville, J. Purdy, C. H.

Vanderbilt In Surprise Match

The marriage at Miami Beach, Fla., of Mrs. Consuelo Vanderbilt Smith and Henry G. Davis, shown in recent pictures, took New York society by surprise since it was not known that romance had flamed between the couple. Davis and his bride's cousin, Grace Vanderbilt, were divorced only a few months ago. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of William K. Vanderbilt, on whose yacht the wedding was held.

Society

Mrs. E. Eastham, "The Alvin," Johnson Street, who has been visiting in Kariakia, Minnesota, for the last few weeks has returned to her

Mr. Peter Saxton White left recently for his home in England after spending the last six years here with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. P. Sax-ton White, 630 Island Road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hale of Marysville, California, arrived in Victoria yesterday on a visit to Mrs. Hale's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Bechtel, Prospect Place,
Oak Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bremner of
Duncan and their little daughter,
Velma, have returned to their home up the island after attending the Rogers-Bremner wedding here on Wednesday. Miss Margaret Claire Bremner of Nanaimo, who was also here for the wedding, has returned home.

Mrs. J. O. Cameron was hostess at the tea hour yesterday afternoon at her home "Roseboro," Moss Street.
The tea table was effectively decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and illuminated by white candles. Mrs. R. L. Miles and Mrs.
William Cameron poured tea and coffee. During the afternoon, the Misses Selma and Lolita Reyes played piano and violin numbers, and Mrs. W. H.
Wilson sang a number of solos.

Mrs. V. S. Godfrey and her two children, Peggy Lynn and John, will leave on Monday afternoon next for the mainland on their way to Hal-fax to join Commander Godfrey.
Many farewell parties have been given for Mrs. Godfrey, and today in her honor Miss Norah Wilson was hostess at a largely attended tea party at her home on St. Charles Street. An "after five" party was also given this afternoon by Lieut.
Commander and Mrs. J. C. I. Edwards at their home on Beach Drive for Mrs. Godfrey, while yesterday Mrs. C. T. Beard entertained a few guests at luncheon for Mrs. Godfrey.

An enjoyable bridge and court whist party was held recently by Job's Daughters at the Shrine Hall.
Prizes were won by Mrs. A. M. Robinson, Mr. E. W. White, Mrs. E. Cameron and Mrs. Alice Cunningham. Refreshments were served in the dining-room. The players were: Mrs. S. P.
Foster, Mrs. E. J. Miles, Mr. and Mrs.
H. O. Austin, Mr. and Mrs. L. Robinson, Mrs. H. O. Brennen, Mrs. H. Minckler, Mr. and Mrs. A. Tripp, Mr. and Mrs.

ins, Mrs. E. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs.
B. Peden, Mrs. A. McCloy, Mrs. Jean
B. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hour-ston and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. White.

Mrs. J. H. Lee was hostess at largely attended tea parties this afternoon and yesterday at her home, "Seagirt," Hollywood Crescent, in compliment to Miss Gwen Spencer, a popular December bride-to-be. The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums in gold and bronze tones, and the tea-table was covered with a Venetian lace cloth and centered with a silver basket of yellow chrysanthemums and tall yellow tapers in silver candelabra. This afternoon Mrs. O. H. Dorman and Mrs.
P. E. Taylor presided at the tea and coffee-urns were assisted in serving by Mrs. W. J. Noble and Mrs.
George Duncan. Mrs. Duncan McBride charmed the gathering with songs, accompanying herself at the piano.
Today's guests included: Miss Spencer and Mrs. Fred Spencer, Mrs. O. H.
Dorman, Mrs. P. E. Taylor, Mrs. D.
McBride, Mrs. F. L. Shaw, Mrs. W.
Burnett, Mrs. Arthur Dixon, Mrs. H.

Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Lee was assisted at the tea hour by Mrs. Howard Taylor and Mrs. Fred Spencer, who presided at the tea-table, and Mrs. S. H. Okell and Mrs. Ernest
Jordan, who helped to serve. Mrs.
Sarah Stone entertained the gathering with piano-forte solos. The other guests included Miss Gwen Spencer,
Mrs. P. Armstrong, Mrs. B. Davies,
Mrs. H. Austin, Mrs. G. R. Fleming,
Mrs. A. King, Mrs. Royan Mac-

Plan Hampers For Saanich

At the Saanich Welfare Association meeting held yesterday afternoon it was decided to open headquarters in the Scott Building, 2657 Douglas Street, on December 9, for packing and receiving donations for Christmas hampers.

All small grocers in Saanich are asked to send in their names for orders not later than December 12.
In order to avoid a last-minute rush in the packing of hampers, all names of those in need must be in the hands of the secretary not later than Saturday, December 19.

Anyone wishing to donate potatoes, vegetables or fruit, can have them delivered to headquarters by telephoning E 1448, G 2222 or E 9583, and after December 9 telephone E 2122
only.

The radio broadcast will again be heard over CPCT in aid of the hamper fund for Saanich and the same high standard of programmes will be given.

Letter From Vimy Guard Is Read

At the regular meeting of the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter held yesterday, Mrs. Colin Cummings, the recent, read extracts from a long letter received by her from one of the officers of the Canadian guard of honor at Vimy. The arrival of the 6,500 pilgrims at Boulogne was described, the journey to Arras and on the following day, Vimy with its impressive service, together with a detailed description of the famous memorial and the march of eight miles back to Arras.
On arrival at Boulogne, the next day, the Canadian officers entertained the French company which had accompanied them to the boat for a short while, which brought to a close a wonderful experience.

This intimate glimpse of the pilgrimage to Vimy was very much enjoyed, and Mrs. A. S. Christie expressed the appreciation of the chapter to Mrs. Cummings.

Mrs. R. B. McKicking was again asked to present the Christmas gift of smokes to the Red Cross Workshop and the Seamen's Institute, she having undertaken this service for many years past.

No Kissing Strike at U.B.C.

Prefer To Gargle
Rather Than Follow U.S. Lead

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Dec. 4.—Students at the University of British Columbia would rather gargle than go on strike against unhygienic kissing, a cross-section of campus opinion indicated today.
The whole thing started with reports that United States college students had organized a winter
"kissing strike" to prevent spread of communicable diseases. A Columbia University bacteriologist was quoted as saying: "About 1,000,000 microbes change hands, so to speak, during a kiss."

University of British Columbia's bacteriologists were less enthusiastic for the strike.
"Medically the strike might be a good thing, but..." was the considered comment of H. J. Horne, faculty member in the department.
John E. Gould, president of Students' Council, claimed United States students should "weigh the relative importance of danger from germs and pleasure from kissing."
"You can only go on strike against something compulsory," he declared.
"Kissing is optional."
Only two co-eds who "preferred" to remain anonymous, were found in favor of the strike. They said kissing led to "emotional tangles."

Jobless Girls Held Mass Meeting

Vancouver Women Discuss Wages In Households

Vancouver, Dec. 4.—Immediate relief for needy single unemployed women in Vancouver and provision by the government of facilities in the employment bureau allowing investigation of conditions when women are sent out for employment.

These demands were voiced at a meeting on Monday afternoon in O'Brien Hall of single unemployed women and other women interested in the problems of the workless in the city. Miss Helen Gutteridge, representing the New Era League, occupied the chair.

A large committee will also be appointed to collect and investigate information on the unemployment situation as affecting women, the data to be formulated and sent to Mrs. D. Sutherland of the national unemployment commission.

As a project for future work endeavors to raise the standard of domestic work to that of a profession, and to institute some type of domestic training proceeding to a certificate of proficiency, were adopted.

CHALLENGE ISSUED
"Let us dare the influential women's organizations of Vancouver to refuse the request for support of a minimum wage for domestic workers," urged Mrs. R. P. Sieves, M.L.A., who believes there is no possible humane argument against such a procedure. Mobilization of public opinion is also necessary, she declared.

"We are willing to work, but we are just forgotten numbers," declared Miss L. Duggan, who claimed she would rather tramp the streets than apply to the relief office. Miss Duggan had talked with girls who were serving sentences in Oakalla for theft because they were hungry and workless. "I appeal to you to do something for us."

Miss Mildred Osterhout was of the opinion that some women were taking advantage of the fact that many girls would accept domestic service because they were desperate. "These women are trading on present conditions," she added, advocating a minimum wage and maximum number of hours for such workers should be set.

PASS RESOLUTIONS
The meeting passed resolutions seeking:

1. Immediate relief for every single unemployed woman in Vancouver in need of it.
2. The providing of facilities by which the Government Employment Office can find out conditions of homes to which domestic workers are being sent.

3. Compilation of a brief through registration of the unemployed girls themselves, setting out conditions. This will be forwarded to Ottawa.

Your Baby And Mine

Where is the mother who, having failed in her efforts to train or correct the child, does not excuse herself with the plea that she has "told him and told him"—and it doesn't do any good.

"Telling" is the least effective of teaching instruments—"doing" is what counts.

"Be nice to everyone," mother preaches virtuously. "It doesn't make any difference who it is, always be nice."

And then she opens the door and says to the canvasser standing there, "No, I don't want anything," and slams the door upon him.

"NOTHING FOR ME"
"Eat your good breakfast, darling. Of course you want to grow up to a big, healthy boy. If you're healthy there's nothing you can't do, or be."

And then to Hilda, "Just a slice of toast without butter and no cream in my coffee, I'm getting to be a butter ball."

"Oh, Bobby dear, thank Mrs. West, nicely for those beautiful books. You're just going to love reading them, aren't you, dear?"

"Why Bobby, how naughty! Please forgive him, my dear. I can't seem to teach that child any manners. I think he enjoys being rude."

Notices intended for publication in this column on Saturday must be written, and handed in at this office not later than Friday.

Typographical W.A. — Woman's Auxiliary to local Typographical Union held an enjoyable card party on Tuesday in S.O.E. Hall, Broad Street. Mrs. Frank Neelands was winner of the first prize and Mrs. A. E. Johnson second. Dainty refreshments were served by the committee.

Salvation Home League—The Victoria Salvation Army Home League will hold their Christmas sale of needlework and home cooking on Saturday from 10 a.m. in the vacant stage formerly occupied by the Mansfield Bakery, on Yates Street, near Broad Street. Afternoon tea will be served. Donations for the stalls will be gratefully accepted any time during the day.

Sketch Club—The Sketch Club of the Arts and Crafts Club are entertaining their friends every afternoon this week at the clubrooms, Courtney Street. An exhibition and Christmas sale of local water colors, calendars, Christmas cards, pottery and other novelties is attracting much interest. Mrs. Percy Fletcher presided at the tea table yesterday afternoon and Miss Lorna Cotton was in charge of the sales.

Gipsy Tea Held—A successful gipsy tea and sale of home cooking and Christmas gifts was held by the St. Martin's in the Field Ladies' Guild on Tuesday, the president and members each wearing gipsy costumes. The stalls were attractively decorated by Mrs. Frew. Those assisting the president, Mrs. Gilbert, at the stalls were Mesdames Pittcroft, Gayman, Frew, Love and Foster. The tea-cup reading was conducted by Mrs. Newberry and Mrs. Hutchings. Mrs. Carpenter sold the tea tickets. Tea was served under the convener'ship of Mrs. John Knight, who was assisted by Mrs. McGregor and Miss Vera Knight.

Officers Installed—The usual business meeting of the Victoria Lodge, Daughters of St. George, was held in the Sons of England Hall, Broad St. Tuesday, with the W. Pres. Sister E. Nunn in the chair. The semi-annual report was read showing good progress made. After the usual business the W. D. E. J. installed the officers for the ensuing term, as follows: W. P. President, Sister A. Hooper; W. Pres., Sister E. Nunn; W. Vice-pres., Sister J. Osborne; W. F. Con., Sister L. Thomas; W. Sec. Con., Sister Haines; F. Finance Secretary, Sister E. Reed; W. Treas., Sister A. Pitney; W. Rec., Sister M. Muckle; W. I. Guard, Sister H. Penketh; W. O. Guard, Sister A. Naden; W. Pianist, Sister K. Gaiger; W. Trustee, Sister A. Vesch. After the ceremony the W. President presented a lovely bouquet to the W. D. who replied in a few well-chosen words. The D. D. then presented a corsage bouquet of red roses to the W. Pres. who also thanked the members.

Sister A. Gurney and L. Farnes acted as supreme conductors for the evening. Sister Osborne presented the W. Pres. with a small gift. The next meeting will be in the form of a Christmas social for the members and families.

Fairfield United Church—A very successful bazaar was held on Wednesday afternoon in the church schoolroom by the women's association and other departments of the church. The president, Mrs. E. Thomson, introduced Mrs. David Leeming, who in a few happy remarks declared the sale open. She was then presented with a box of chocolates by little Beverly Husband on behalf of the W.A. The various stalls were attractively decorated and well patronized. Plain and fancy needlework was in charge of Mrs. J. H. Butler, Mrs. Keefe and Mrs. G. G. Green; knitted goods, Mrs. M. Howard and Mrs. Millson; home cooking, Mrs. L. Benson and Mrs. A. C. Charlton; choir stall, Mrs. W. C. Warren, Mrs. M. T. McDonald, Mrs. P. C. Richards; Y.P.S., Mrs. J. T. Keating and members; C.G.I.T., Miss L. Benson, assisted by the girls; Mrs. L. Barlow in charge of bran tub; Men's Club, Mr. J. Armstrong, T. Hocking, A. C. Charlton, J. C. Warren, C. A. Fields, J. T. Keating. Afternoon tea was served by Mrs. D. J. McLean, Mrs. A. Schroeder, assisted by Mrs. E. M. Worth, Mrs. J. Fields, Mrs. Wilson. Supper was served by Mrs. S. J. Jackson and Mrs. P. A. Hawkes, assisted by Mrs. Moon, Mrs. E. P. Siddall and Mrs. Kangster. An evening of entertainment was provided by the Y.P.S. and was very enjoyable. Miss Jessie Richards was in charge of receipts.

Evening's Busy—He wouldn't even say he liked them and I didn't blame him.

You're quite right, under such antagonistic influences a child could be told and told and it wouldn't make even a dent in his behavior.

The harder way is to say little and do much along the line which you are eager for the child to imitate.

Our leaflet on "Etiquette for the Young Child" offers suggestions which must be coupled with parental examples of identical conduct in order to be effective. Send a self-addressed, 3-cent stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

Is In London

Giving new import to often denied rumors that they were engaged in a new romance, Mrs. Jacques A. L. Haffray (above) of New York, was met by Ernest Simpson, divorced husband of Mrs. Wallis Simpson, when she arrived at London. She and Simpson sat on the floor of a taxi to avoid being photographed.

Dancing Star Is Threatened

Associated Press

Hollywood, Calif., Dec. 4.—Federal agents today guarded Ginger Rogers, dancing star of the screen, as her mother told of letters demanding $5,000 or Ginger's life.

The mother, Mrs. Letta Rogers, said federal men made arrangements to contact the supposed letter writer at a beach cafe tonight in the hope of making arrests. Officers of the Bureau of Investigation, however, refused comment.

"The first letter, received about two weeks ago, contained a threat that I would be killed with bullets if the money was not paid by December 9," said Mrs. Rogers. "It was a threat and apparently in the handwriting of a man."

"A second letter threatened death to Ginger. It was in the handwriting of a woman, and demanded payment on December 4."

Mrs. Rogers, "not disturbed" by the threats, added:

"You know, these things always work out in a curious way. Notes of this type come through and the players never see them. The studio fan-mail departments get them first, and the first thing anybody knows, there is a bodyguard assigned to you. That's what happened to us."

Clear Sideboard of Bric-a-brac

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

QUITE as much as a stream-lined 1936 motor for your guests, the up-to-date dining-room should boast a sideboard decorated in the 1936 manner.

Crystal, highly polished woods, gleaming metals—these are the materials designers are using to turn out candlesticks, bowls and smaller accessories that are useful as well as beautiful. Choose those you particularly admire, group them so that each piece sets off the others, and you are certain to have a distinctive, distinguished piece of decoration.

If you own a sideboard of modern design, say of bleached maple, brown walnut, or similar wood, you will find a pottery bowl dipped in Roman gold and a pair of branched candleholders of brown maple, fitted with cups and rings of gilt, most effective.

In a dining-room with walls in the new dusty pink, a huge plaque of beige glazed pottery with wooden handles, studded with big gold nail-heads, was placed above the sideboard. A pottery bowl filled with pears and apples in burnished silver and gold, was used in the centre of the sideboard, and, at either end, tallish urns of pottery with gracefully curved wooden handles.

Another attractive dining-room decorated in shades of brown and green had walls of pale tobacco brown, blonde furniture and peacock green draperies. The sideboard held a green ceramic bowl filled with fruits carved from bleached and dark wood—a blonde pear and peach in two tones of walnut, a blonde banana and a huge brown walnut apple and bunch of dark walnut grapes as big as the English hothouse variety. At either side were candle holders with walnut bases and rims and branches of deep green pottery, modeled to represent the bark of a tree. Green candles were used, though brown, or one tall brown one, together with shorter green ones, would have been equally attractive.

In case you use a serving table in place of a sideboard, you might decorate it as the one shown in the photograph with two framed tapestries on the wall, a crystal centre-piece filled with wooden fruit, heavy cut crystal accessories, and metal candle holders.

Music as Bond Of World Peace

New York, Dec. 4.—Various methods of preventing war, from "economic understandings" to "musical pictures" were presented by speakers at the final "World Peace Dinner" last night of the National Council of Women's Forum.

It was Gladys Swarthout, comely American opera star, who told representatives of twenty leading national women's organizations that music would do the trick.

No New British War Debts Move

Chamberlain Says No Prospects For Reopening Discussions With U.S.

Associated Press

London, Dec. 4.—Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, indicated in the House of Commons yesterday there were no immediate prospects for reopening war debt discussions between Great Britain and the United States.

He was asked from the floor whether he knew of the talk of French settlement negotiations and whether he would "intimate" to the United States that Britain was ready to follow suit.

In reply he said:

"I understand no negotiations of the kind referred to in the first part of the question are taking place. In reply to the second part of the question I would refer to the note addressed to the United States government on June 7."

He referred to a note containing the regular semi-annual acknowledgment by the British government of receipt of the United States notification of the amount due at that time.

Finde-niece Peg strangely pensive as well. Which doth bring thought that pudding must be mailed at once for the old land. Mails do close over soon. There be English Bakery Christmas cake too... that be a delight to all. 'Tis possible to have it plain or finely leaved and decorated with pretty berries and green leaves. Goode Almond Paste be here for the buying... and even for those who do always make their own good cake... there be fancy cake bands that do intrigue.

Now I do pull Peg on, for it be but a step to Mister Gibson's Studio and I do receive this day the finished pictures I did pose for but short days ago. They be perfectly turned out... in soft silver tones that even doth flatter tired faces... the likenesses etched in clearest lines that do bring out the best features one of both possess. The mount be of round modernistic design and the ribbon of the very latest in style. Mister Gibson doth say he do have many appointments for Christmas. He do still take sittings at night to give service to many who be busy all the day. 'Tis well to rush at once for perfect likenesses.

Home... to find I do welcome the quiet and peace of own fireside. There be so much of turmoil within the town this day. Finde Samuel strangely quiet as he doth pull at his favorite pipe. As we do sit before the fire he doth make remark that there be too much of censure in this world and that it might be far better if there be more pity... and perhaps more understanding.

Back along Government Street while Peg doth take aly glance to see if Mr. Lovelace be about. Then hurry on to Diggon-Hibbens. Finde here new display of perfect stationery just placed upon the shelves. There be so many new boxed designs all arranged to please. I do think compendium styles be best of all. So compact... so dainty. See one in double compendium design that doth sport miniature desk blotter within. See, too, a fine new cedar box shaped like wee desk. Drawers do pull out... the top doth lift... stationery be within. 'Tis well to remember too that with all stationery that do cost $1.30

Thursday, December 3.

This day be filled with strange unrest. At breakfast Samuel once again both complain of liver. Not even Mistress Peggy's brightest smile did cheer him. He did go off growning to his counting house.

Myself, think to finde cheer by going early to town... but there am immediately surrounded by much talk of things that do happen far off in the Old Land. 'Twould seem folk do talk overmuch about things they do know little of... unless it be through news they glean from gossip of the press. This be season that doth preach lesson of good-will to all. 'Twould be well to remember.

Myself, avoid all gossip and go hastily on about my own affairs. This day I do take long list of names to Posy Shoppe at 623 Port Street. 'Tis of friends and business acquaintances far in eastern Canada and the United States. Samuel doth ever remember at Christmas with fine box of holly. This year Posy Shoppe doth plan to box good holly in new corrugated cardboard box that be light yet firm and that doth keep out frost or icy weather. These boxes be covered with perfect holly paper. Bright green leaves... glossy red berries peeping through... all arranged to perfection! It doth make a lovely gift for those who live where holly be so scarce. Orders should be placed at once with Posy Shoppe... for mailing be ever a touching thing when it be done too near to Christmas Day.

Out upon the street to finde Mistress Peg deep in conversation with Tony Lovelace. With much chattering of eyelashes she doth lead him and myself toward E. A. Morris Ltd. at 1116 Government Street. She doth know Tony

COAL SUPPLY AT A MOMENT'S NOTICE

Mrs. Nabor's coal bin is only as far away as her telephone... in good weather and bad... her fuel supply is guaranteed by the vast reserves of NANAIMO-WELLINGTON and COMOX COAL in Nature's own storehouse on Vancouver Island. Vagaries of weather don't bother Mrs. Nabor because her home is filled with stored sunshine all winter long. She has no worries, because her fuel dollar buys the hottest and cleanest coal available and she knows that every ton she buys helps to keep the home fires burning in some Island miner's home.

DISCOURTEOUS SCOUT

To the Editor:—I noticed recently in one of our dailies, the annual appeal of the Boy Scouts' Workshop. Now, I am all in favor of this worthy cause, but is it too much to ask that a little appreciation be shown for the gifts received?

Last year I made a special trip for the purpose of giving some toys to the Scouts. On entering the "receiving station" the man in charge took absolutely no notice of me, but continued his conversation with his friend. After standing around for about five minutes with my arms full of toys, etc., the attendant finally said "put 'em over there," without even so much as a "please" or "thank you."

Such lack of manners certainly does not make a very good advertisement for the workshop.

PROPHETS OF GLOOM

To the Editor:—If there is anything conducive to making conditions in this world worse than they are, it is the continual preaching from pulpits and radio of dire prophecies of doom and disaster for mankind.

There is one radio speaker in particular, who persists in painting conditions in the blackest possible colors; in fact, he is like Saul preaching fire and slaughter.

The failures of men, even the sincerest, are spotlighted while their triumphs over obstacles are scarcely mentioned, and if they are, it is to be but ridiculed.

As one listens to the perpetual quotations of the gloomiest and most rabid portions of Scripture it can be easily understood how weak-minded or timorous people give way under it. We do not know what the post mortem existence of man will be, as no has returned from the grave to tell us, but we may be sure that if anything follows this life it will be the result or sequence of our conduct here.

It is, therefore, entirely up to man to do the best with the materials to hand here, not depending on any miraculous intervention of a celestial being.

It is most decidedly of no help to a sick man to keep telling him that he is not only sick but he is to be even sicker.

We need no prophets of evil, but men of open vision, who see in the struggle of the masses for emancipation, not some spectre labeled "Communism," but the gradually coming into being of that mystical Son of Man.

We are told that He is to come like a "thief in the night," and so it will be, for this awakening spirit of co-operation will spread and grow, until, before we know it, a common brotherhood will have come into being.

The Creator works always through man, and dwells not in buildings of brick or stone, nor is He in the sole possession of any organization.

Every thought for the betterment of mankind, whether born in the soul of those we call Laborite, Communist or Socialist, is born of Him.

Even all this talk and preparation for war is making man more world conscious and less provincial minded.

Even capital paved the way by its very internationalism, and having served its purpose, gives way to the internationalism of the workers.

We are all learning daily how much we are dependent on one another, and that neither nations nor men live unto themselves.

"We are all parts of one stupendous whole whose body-nature is, and God the Soul."

CHRISTIAN-SANCTIONED BRUTALITIES

To the Editor:—You are greatly to be commended for the fine editorial in tonight's paper, in which you condemn, in no uncertain terms, the brutal bombing of women and children in Madrid by General Franco's Moorish mercenaries.

Very timely also, was your reference to the wanton destruction of such a fine old city as Madrid.

It is a great pity that there are not more influential people raising their voices in protest against the many brutalities in Spain and elsewhere today.

When the almost defenseless Ethiopians suffered the brutality at the hands of the Italian soldiery, little outside the half-hearted attempt at sanctions, was done to put a stop to the cruel slaughter. Now, however it is coming nearer home in Europe which may put a different complexion on things.

It is not necessary that armed force be used to put a stop to these kind of things as all who remember the effectiveness of the Congo Reform movement in England will know.

At that time the cruelest barbarities were practiced upon Congo natives, both male and female in the rubber plantations, mainly owned by King Leopold of Belgium, when those natives failed to bring in the quota of rubber to the white bosses. So great was the popular outcry in England that Leopold of Belgium was obliged to abandon the terrible practices—and not a shot was fired.

Many professing Christians imagine that it is sufficient if they themselves refrain from cruelty and evil, but it is also necessary that they stand not idly by or remain silent while they know that cruelty and evil is being done to another fellow-being. When Christians, or those calling themselves such, realize the truth of this and raise their voices in unison against war and oppression, it will not be necessary to have armaments to enforce the people's stand against these things.

SCOTS ONLY ONCE VICTORS

To the Editor:—Rev. J. R. Craig, speaking before the Kiwanis Club refers to Scotland defeating England and peace ever after. Scotland never did defeat England, only in the battle of Bannockburn, but England bumped Scotland at Flodden, Dunbar, Nevils Cross, Nine of Diamonds etc., and then took her into equal partnership, Scotland with $10 to England's $1,000.

Read Macaulay's book on the amalgamation of St. Andrew's with St. George. No, Rev. Craig, that talk won't make peace; it savours of mischief.

CHRISTMAS SEASON THOUGHT

To the Editor:—At no time in all the year do men draw nearer to God than at Christmas when brotherly love is so prominent. Yet religion, no religion and anti-religion are quite common and it may again be said "The kings of the earth stood up and the rulers were gathered together against the Lord and against His Christ."

We need the spirit of the Son of God and Vimy Ridge, crystallized into the great campaigns of moral heroism. We need to match the shining exploits of the war with efforts on behalf of world peace and brotherhood. The fighting instinct of the rising generation needs sublimating in order to serve best the cause they died for to abolish the evil which required the sacrifice.

"Come, let us try the Master's way. Ages we tried the way of swords, And earth is weary of hostile hordes. Comrades, read out, His words again."

They are the only hope for men! Love and not hate must come to birth; Christ and not Cain, must rule the earth."

TO A WOULD-BE BUDDHIST

To the Editor:—Replying to your correspondent from Cowichan Bay, who would prefer to become a Buddhist, may I say, first, he has got his quotation from the Bible all wrong when he says "The peace of the world that passeth understanding."

Christianity and the gospel message is an individual thing, and he treats of the higher longings of life, spirit, soul, mental condition of the inner man, as when it says in Phil iv 7 "The peace of God which passeth all understanding," not in the world, but in the heart of the individual.

The Christian who is in dire poverty, or has terrible pain in sickness, or is passing through great sorrow in bereavement, can still have such strong faith in God, that all is for the best, and he experiences a wonderful peace of mind which even he himself cannot understand. It is so soothing in its serene content. This is the peace of God which passeth understanding.

But the Bible declares many times, "In the world ye shall have tribulation," there will be no peace. "Nations shall rise against nation," etc., etc. We are in the midst of such a time now, turmoil and strife and wickedness, but these conditions are all man made developments, whether inside the churches or outside of them, they are the ungodlike machinations of evil-hearted men.

All clergy are not Christian, just as many Buddhists are habitual liars. There are good and bad men in all religions. No doubt Christian churches have failed in the past according to their departure from the true tenets of Christ. But the gospel has also been a mighty power for good in the world, among all the races and nations which were pagan.

Churches have failed to hold the masses because selfishness has urged preachers to turn preaching into a trade, a profession, an exclusive protected society who have worshipped at the altar of wealth, power, privilege and self-indulgence, just as they have done and are doing in all religions, including Buddhism.

There is an excellent opportunity in the world today, for your Cowichan correspondent to devote his life to bringing back the masses to the same serene daily living of a Christ, who points the way for man to live in harmony with that eternal spirit surrounding us everywhere, which contains the peace of God, beyond our comprehension.

We cannot understand a Creator who can so serenely rule and time to a fraction of a second, a great universe of worlds, each revolving in its appointed sphere so that the sun, for instance, cannot fall in its daily blessing of heat and light to all life upon earth.

The Eternal Spirit which has created and ruled for billions of years in the past, and can still in the present be unperturbed by the strife and bloodshed, cruelty and hate of man upon the earth, in their small bickerings like ants in a tiny ant hill. This is the God of peace, and it is this eternal blanket of peace surrounding us which passeth understanding, yet we can imbibe that peace within our hearts by turning on the switch of faith and love. The nearer we get to God, the broader minded we become.

$50,000,000 PAYROLL SCARED AWAY

To the Editor:—What becomes of our island's $50,000,000 payroll, and why have we allowed it to be driven away from the merchants of Victoria?

It might surprise many of our island merchants and citizens to know that the remaining so-called British Columbia assessable and export merchantable timber lies between Victoria and Alberni on the west coast of Vancouver Island, as practically all the timber on the east coast of the island has already been cut.

The island was deprived of manufacturing this east coast log cut, as we all know, by a discriminating, arbitrary freight rate, engineered by

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"I'm looking for some that aren't too sweet. Most of these are going to people whom I can't stand."

St. James' Street and mainland interests.

But on the other hand practically all the remaining export logs from the West Coast will have to pay a heavy rail haul across the island if they ship them to Vancouver and New Westminster for cutting there, so it can be plainly seen that the natural outlet for these vast timber resources is practically Victoria, Alberni and Chemainus. Of course this depends entirely on whether our apathetic and vacillating municipal and provincial members are going to sit back and allow the Canadian National Railway—which is our only West Coast outlet—to be shut down entirely between Victoria and Cowichan Lake, so as the major portion of these remaining timber resources will be unnaturally diverted across the island, thence over to Vancouver via Cowichan Bay, for manufacturing and export.

To give the reader some idea as to the extent of these vast resources, the latest figures supplied by the Dominion Government show that the island timber resources provide more than half of the total log and lumber exports for the whole of Canada. Further, let the merchants of Victoria consider that if we allow this main line of the Canadian National Railway on the island to be shut down it will kill Victoria's lumber export, as well as the grain elevator and cold storage plant, and instead of having mills opening up in Victoria, the remaining ones will be closing down because they will be subordinated to the dictatorial attitude of one transportation company.

Our mills are now paying 65 cents a 100 to ship lumber to the prairies, whereas the rate on grain coming here is 20 cents per 100.

Then let our merchants further consider that the above-mentioned logging operations are employing the greatest number of men and has the largest payroll of any logging district in Canada. This is the class of all-year-round payroll tourist that this city needs if we are going to reduce taxes. As a matter of fact, one longer living-or-buying-his-supplies-in-Victoria will spend from $1,200 to $1,500 a year, whereas our average tourist spends $5 to $10 (maybe), so I am going to suggest that if the new council will take the necessary steps and go after this payroll that we can bring down thousands of cars a week from the great industrial centres of the island who will load up their cars with meals, groceries, clothes, etc., besides patronizing restaurants, dentists, opticians and amusement places, etc.

This is the $50,000,000 payroll that our municipal authorities have allowed to be frightened away from Victoria, and if the new council, whoever they may be—will send a committee of aldermen through the lumber camps and the fishing and mining districts, they will be able to learn at first hand why these three basic industries are supporting about 10,000 homes in the city of Vancouver and New Westminster.

Mr. Editor, I am making these statements from personal experiences that I have had on the island during the last thirty-five years, and am prepared to substantiate them. Since approximately 1910 the up-island loggers, fishermen, coal miners and other industrial workers have been frightened away from Victoria because of discrimination and persecution. The police department has been using the motor vehicle and other regulations for revenue-producing purposes and our past and present City Council has stood for it; in fact allowed them to buy a patrol wagon, which is now costing about $16,000 a year to operate. Figure it out for yourself: Two men, three shifts a day, five and one-half-day weeks, and for what purpose? Thinning the up-island industrial workers would pay for its cost of operation. As a matter of fact $500 in tax fares a year would be more than ample to fulfill all the requirements of a patrol wagon.

SEES FALLACIES

To the Editor:—Mr. Averill states that "the total income of any nation is never sufficient to buy its total output; this has been proved by Major Douglas and many other experts." This contains misstatements. Douglas is not an economist; he utterly failed to substantiate his proposition when examined by the experts on the Macmillan Committee; expert economists disagree with his theory and have repeatedly exposed

As no two estates are alike, the amount allowed by the Judge in one case would not apply in another. The main thing to consider is that every executor is entitled to compensation.

An individual executor is subject to the usual financial and health hazards. His sources of information are restricted. There are limitations to his training and experience. Generally, he is busy with his own affairs.

that could be used to buy its own production.

Even where imports and exports balance, as imports eventually are bought by individuals, it follows that the very people who, according to Mr. Averill, have not sufficient money to buy their own goods, yet we have money available to buy the goods of other nations. The economics of Douglas are suitable only for consumption by the non-understanding. Any of the professors of economics of the U. B. C. would say so if they were consulted.

Our local S. C. propagandists constantly repeat that they only want to add to our existing volume of money enough to enable us to buy our production; but Douglas repudiated this before the Macmillan Commission. In fact, when falling prices indicate that an increase is desirable, this object is effected through the machinery of the Central Bank, so that S. C. is unnecessary for any such purpose.

The recent endorsement of Aberhart by these Douglasites is strange, for he is the worst of heretics according to the doctrine of Douglas. The former, somewhat more rational than the latter, has grasped the fact that the issue of S. C. money will inevitably cause inflation unless it is cancelled.

and that cancellation can only be effected by redemption with ordinary money; and this he proposes to obtain by a turnover tax, thus taking back from the public with one hand what he gives them with the other. This is rank heresy according to Douglas the inflexible prophet of the S. C. dispensation, and sheer tomfoolery anyhow.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. met recently. After the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and prayer led by the president, Misses Grace Allen and Ethel Malcolm were welcomed as visitors to the branch. During the brief business session, the members were reminded of the Corporate Communion and breakfast to be held next Sunday. Then followed a social to welcome Rev. and Mrs. G. A. Bolster to the branch.

Refreshments were served, the table being centred with an iced case, bearing the words, "Welcome to St. John's A.Y.P.A." which was cut by Mrs. Bolster.

The evening was ended by community singing.

At the next meeting the Chinese Mission will be entertained.

HALF-ACRE in EDEN

By Robert Edward Dickson

(Copyright, 1936)

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARCIA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy, public, artist, met BRUCE McDUGALL, artist, shortly after the mysterious disappearance of FRANK KENDRICK, to whom Marcia had been engaged. When she learned that Marcia was more shocked than heartbroken, she realized she was never in love with him.

McDugall is attentive until DOUGLASS O'BORN, who dislikes Marcia, leads him to believe Marcia is engaged to another man.

There is a bank holiday and police commander the Canfield car to follow the bandits. The car is wrecked and both Marcia and her father are injured.

McDugall, driving with Dorothy O'Brien and her mother, comes upon a scene. He takes Marcia and her father to a hospital. Later McDugall calls the hospital repeatedly, is told Marcia is "doing well."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

When Marcia awakened later she was in another room, in a white bed, and a woman in white and a man in white were looking at her.

"Now she's going to be all right," said a voice.

Marcia tried to speak, but for a while words would not come. When she succeeded in speaking, she asked, "Who was hurt?"

"All of you were hurt," said the man, "but not so much. Your only real trouble, I think, is a badly broken arm. You were knocked unconscious, but not for long."

"Father?" asked Marcia.

"He has a total of three broken ribs. It's a miracle, but the two seats must have kept you pinned in so you weren't bounced around. The chauffeur held on to the wheel, apparently, and kept his neck from being broken. He has some fractures, but he'll get over them. The policeman can't complain of anything but bruises and sprains. But don't bother about it. Everything's fine. Get some sleep."

On the second day she was well enough to receive callers, so that she heard from many sources and with variations that the bandits had escaped — only their abandoned car being found — and also the story of how Bruce McDugall and the O'Borns had brought her to the hospital.

From McDugall himself came a very simple box of flowers, with a polite card expressing a hope for her quick recovery, but he did not appear among her visitors, either on that day or on the days following. Marcia did not know that he telephoned the hospital frequently and anonymously for news of her, nor that, alone in his rooms, he dwelt grimly on imaginary scenes of a flying visit to her bedside by her reputed fiancé.

Marcia would have liked to thank McDugall for his help — and she would have liked, she admitted to herself as she passed long hours alone, just to see him.

If placed her a bit to think that having performed a signal service, he could dismiss the incident with a perfunctory note and a bunch of flowers. Of course, if he cared no more than that —

On her third night in the hospital, after visiting hours, Marcia's nurse, one Peggy Holmes, was preparing her for sleep. The doctor had just departed, with a promise that she could go home "pretty soon now." She had seen her father, walking stiffly and complaining bitterly that he was tired too tight to breathe. She had had favorable news of the chauffeur's condition.

Miss Holmes, discharging her tasks with a mechanical routine which left her mind free for the more entertaining hospital routine of conversation, gave Marcia the latest gossip and chatted of the evening's visitors.

"Haven't that man been here to see you yet?" she demanded.

"What man?" asked Marcia.

"The guy with the tragic face who carried you in here the night you were hurt."

"I didn't know he had a tragic face."

"You'd have called it tragic if you'd seen it then," said Miss Holmes. "I was in the receiving ward, so I got a good look at him. He looked worse than you did; you were only unconscious. He came carrying you in from the driveway and put you down as if you were a mangled flower, so help me. We had to push him out of the way to see you, and when we started upstairs with you, there he was following along to the elevator."

"If it hadn't been my business to go with you, I swear I'd have turned back and sneaked him a shot in the arm."

"When we got finished with you I went downstairs again, expecting to have a corpse to dispose of, but he'd gone. Gone out to shoot himself, from the way he looked, I imagined."

"Well, if he hasn't been in to see you, maybe it's all for the best. He'd have to cheer up considerable before they'd let him in. The place would be a morgue, with him frightening the patients. No kidding, hasn't he been here?"

When at last Miss Holmes left, Marcia lay without sleeping. There was a warmth in her heart for Bruce McDugall's concern as woman-like, her intuition reached out and brought back the knowledge that, after all, in some peculiar way, he cared.

Somewhere there was an absurd little explanation for his staying away. It did not matter; she knew what she wanted to know.

Mrs. Reid Henderson, the director of "Half-acre in Eden," had spent a frantic fortnight worrying over the necessity for postponing the show or finding a substitute for Marcia, when, with the performance only a week ahead, a simple solution was presented.

Both Marcia and her father had been allowed to leave the hospital, the doctors finding no further injuries and no evidence of the effects of shock. Helen Waddell and several other girls in the show visited Marcia on her first afternoon at home. Discussing a postponement of the play or the (to them) impossible alternative of finding a substitute for the leading lady, they proposed simply that Marcia should take part on the scheduled date, regardless of having her arm in a cast.

Mrs. Henderson, when the suggestion was carried to her, agreed without much reluctance. Marcia's accident was common knowledge; every member of the audience would believe the performance, have seen her about town with a disabled arm. Therefore, said Mrs. Henderson, the show would go on and everyone, cast and audience, could just ignore the arm.

After all, many an audience in the professional theatre had been compelled to excuse far more on the part of certain leading ladies.

Rehearsals, therefore, continued with increasing excitement, due to the approach of the actual performance. The cast met each night of the last week, with dress rehearsal scheduled for the night before the presentation.

Midway in the week, Mrs. Henderson sought to spur her company toward final perfection with the stimulus of a mysterious announcement.

"You are all doing splendidly," she told the group, assembled on the stage of the auditorium. "I'm proud of you. The few rough spots left will be corrected easily, I know."

"Now, there is something I want to tell you — in part, I can't give you the whole story; I promised to keep it a secret."

"But I can tell you that on the night of the show there is to be a surprise for you. For the whole town, in fact. Something that, actually, all of us will feel we have a share in, even if we can't all benefit directly. It is something that should make the Stagecraft Guild — and particularly this cast — very, very proud. Now, work hard and deserve it."

She refused all entreaties to say more.

Bruce McDugall was making in a sketch. The pencil job had satisfied him, but now it was all wrong. He knew what was lacking, but he seemed unable to draw the lines he wanted. He frowned at the work on his drawing board, and frowned at his pen, the oldest and most faithful among his store.

Disgustedly, he tossed the pen down and pushed the drawing board aside. As in the case of the sketch, he knew his trouble, but could not apply the remedy.

If only someone else had been handy on the night of the wreck to pick up Marcia Canfield! Then he would not have held her in his arms, would not now be mocked by his once level-headed decision to put the dream of her aside!

He stared out the window. McDugall couldn't get over it! Unfettered, free lance McDugall, without a worry in the world, had come to Bobbie Waddell and found himself tied for life to the thought of a girl he couldn't have!

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

A sty is among the most common infections of the eye. Usually it represents an invasion by one of the common pus-forming germs, of the glands on the eyelids, or, occasionally, of a hair follicle, too. The sty may occur at all ages, but is most common in children.

They often appear in crops. Sometimes they are associated with inflammation by inflammation of the eyelid and frequently with uncorrected errors of vision. In these cases, the eye has not been able to protect itself as well against germs as it can when errors of vision have been corrected.

A sty usually acts like a pimple or a small boil. After a day or two, the sty gets soft and bursts, the infectious material is discharged from it, and recovery follows.

Before the sty has softened, its development can sometimes be prevented by putting out the eye and treating the spot with some antiseptic that is not dangerous to the eye itself.

Usually it is wise to apply hot compresses to sties to hasten development of the inflammation. Then, as soon as a yellow spot is seen, the infectious material should be released. Since the eye is so delicate, an organ, special attention of this sort should be supplied by a competent physician.

Repeated formation of sties indicates that the body has little resistance to infection. The susceptible person, therefore, should have a physical examination and develop suitable hygiene to overcome the lack of resistance. The diet should be corrected to provide, particularly, correct amounts of proteins, mineral salts and vitamins.

In some instances, when sties form repeatedly, physicians collect the germs responsible, make a vaccine of dead germs and reinject this into the patient, thus developing specific resistance against the germs that caused the sties.

Sometimes repeated sties result from infections in the nose and throat, or the sinuses. In the investigation that is made when sties occur repeatedly, this point should be kept in mind.

England Gets Away To Fair Start In Test Cricket Match

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

JOHNNY RISCO, a has-been for some time, is coming out of oblivion at Cleveland, December 14, to be bounced right back into it by Joe Louis. Optimistically, the bout is billed for ten rounds. The only question in connection with the fight is whether Risco is dragging himself out of retirement. Usually it is need of money that brings shop-worn fighters back to the wars. But that was not the case when Jack Sharkey picked off a nice plum, nor is Risco exactly ready for the poorhouse.

Sharkey was well paid for a pathetically futile effort, however. He was in position to get—and collected—something like $27,000. The $6,000 guarantee to be drawn down by Risco is indeed a paltry sum compared to many of his purses of the past. When the cut of his veteran manager, Danny Dunn, and training expenses are deducted, the one-time baker boy will have little to show for a lot of work and what even his more rabid supporters agree may result in a beating that will do him no good.

Why Risco is risking his health when he has a fortune estimated at $150,000 is hard to understand. Among other things, the Bohemian has a $100,000 trust fund and a successful business outside of Cleveland. One would think that a man grown old in the most wearing of all grinds would be content with that, but few know that he has had enough.

Outside of a bout with one Jess Calhoun a year ago in Louisville, Risco hasn't fought in two years. Before hanging up the gloves in 1934, the corroded Rubber Man twice was beaten by Patsy Perroni, and by Bob Godwin, Natie Brown, and by Bob Retzlaff, third-rounders at their best. Perhaps it is the memory of his victory over Tommy Loughran that spurs Risco to take another fling. Loughran repelled Risco in three previous engagements. The South Philadelphia has been around longer than Risco and is the same age. The corroded Rubber Man will be thirty-four December 18.

Dunn wanted Risco to take a couple of warm-ups, but the Bohemian would have none of that. It was Louis or nothing. Sharkey, belted out in a jiffy by Louis, had a half dozen tune-up scraps under his belt, and at least was half-way sharpened for the fray.

Risco, after puffing through a workout, weighed 208 lbs. He expects to come in for the "bout" at 195. His best fighting weight was 190. Risco professes not to think much of Louis. He says he picked Schmeling to stop the Brown Bomber. He explains that he did this after watching Louis in training at Lakewood, N. J., where practically all the so-called experts, blinded by the ballyhoo, laughed off slovenly workouts on the part of the Dark Angel.

"It was just a question of what man who knew Louis' weakness would get to him first," asserts Risco. "I knew that anybody who carried the fight and crowded him at all times would win. Little wonder that Jim Braddock is so anxious to fight him."

Pointing out that Al Ettore and Jorge Bescia, rough and tough youngsters, lugged the trouble to Louis and were counted out for their pains, doesn't stop Risco.

"Ettore and Bescia lacked experience," he explains, mopping his brow with a grimace of disdain. "Risco has Sharkey's line. 'If I didn't believe that I could win him, I wouldn't have taken the match. I've beaten better fighters than Louis.'"

Risco professes to believe that this is not to be his swan song, and to be looking toward another shot at Max Schmeling, who wouldn't sack him again after 1929, when he got over what the spoiler of years gone by terms a lucky punch. Schmeling dealt Risco his only real knockout in the ninth round after the Cleveland clouter had piled up a comfortable lead.

The Risco of that night might have had a chance.

Leyland Puts on 126 Score After Dismal Opening

Invaders Score 263 For Six Wickets Against Australia at Brisbane

Wally Hammond Caught For Duck

Canadian Press

Brisbane, Australia, Dec. 4.—A resourceful century by Maurice Leyland, stalwart Yorkshire batsman, gave England a fair start in the opening day's play of the first cricket test match against Australia. Leyland made 126 of England's total of 263 for six wickets when stumps were drawn for the day.

Fifteen thousand saw the inaugural day's play. Five tests will be played between the two countries during the present season. Since the test series started in 1876 Australia has won fifty-three contests, one more than England, and twenty-nine have been drawn.

Three wickets fell cheaply before Leyland took command of the bowling. A master of defensive play, he set out to wear down the attack. It was a dodged display but it served England's purpose. Leyland was at the wickets nearly four hours, hitting eleven fours, and finally was dismissed when he pulled a leg break from Frank Ward, South Australian youngster, on to his wicket.

BARNETT GETS GO
Charles Barnett, Gloucestershire, who opened the innings with T. Worthington of Derbyshire, seconded Leyland, scoring 60, before he was taken by the veteran W. A. Oldfield, behind the closed off of W. J. O'Reilly.

When play closed, Joseph Hardstaff, Nottinghamshire, pro, and R. W. V. Robins were associated. The former defended stubbornly and had obtained 27 at the adjournment. Robins made six.

England made a disastrous start. Worthington skied the first ball he received from E. L. McCormick and was easily caught by Oldfield before a run—had been scored—Barnett started well, hitting three fours, but then "sat on the spile" and runs came slowly.

The Mother Country's troubles were not ended. A. E. Fagg, young Kent cricketer, playing in his first test, snickered at McCormick and was easily caught by Oldfield's hands and two men were out for only 30 runs. Wally Hammond, Gloucestershire, counted England's best bet against the Aussies, fared even worse. McCormick getting his wicket before he had scored, Hammond was caught by Ray Robinson at square leg when he attempted to hit the Victorian fast bowler.

With three wickets down for 30 runs Leyland and Barnett took no chances, and play was very quiet until lunch, when the pair had carried the total to 65.

MCCORMICK RETIRES

The first 100 runs went up after two hours' play and with the score at 108, Australia suffered a distinct loss. McCormick being forced to retire on account of illness. It was later learned that McCormick had a chill, and will be out of the game until Monday. W. A. Brown, Queensland, took his place in the field.

The Leyland-Barnett partnership was finally broken with the total at 119, the Gloucestershire man falling to O'Reilly's clever bowling. Leslie Ames, Kent star, accompanied Leyland and England's total reached the 200 mark in a shade over four hours.

Ames was dismissed in the second over after the tea interval. He was taken by A. G. Chipperfield off Ward after scoring 24. Leland was sixth out at 252.

Pittsburgh Selected

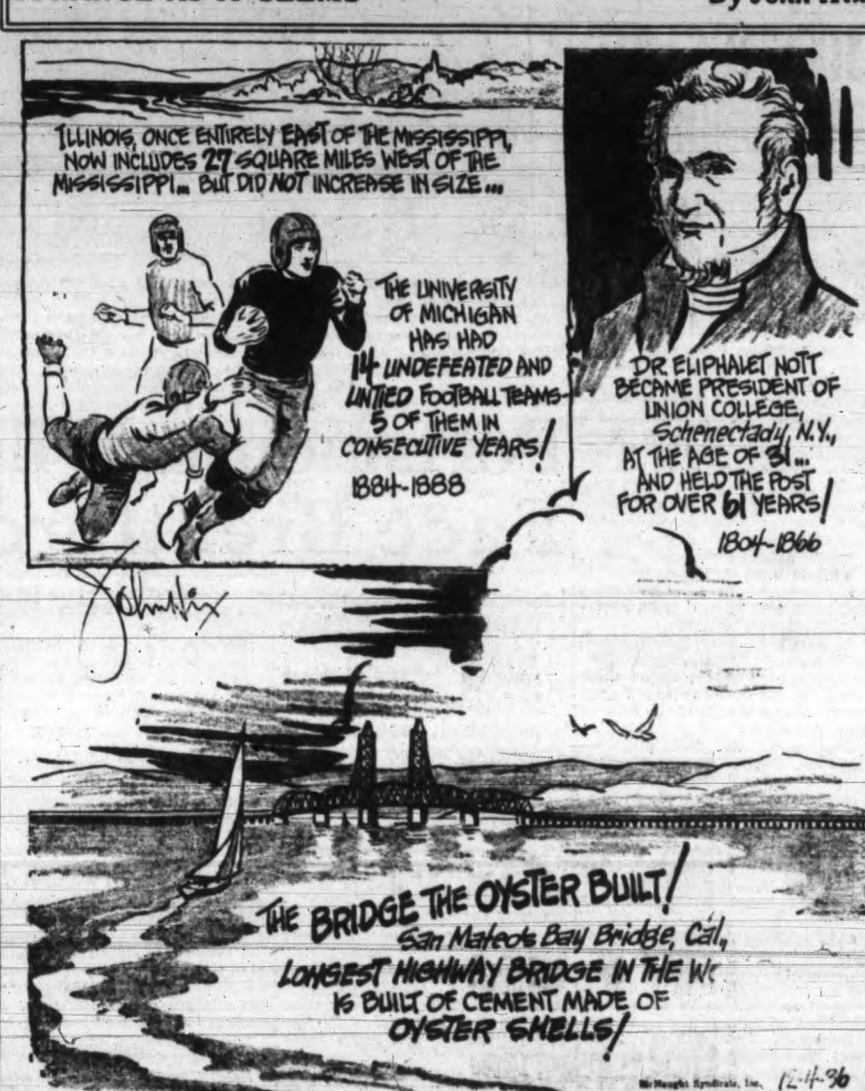

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 4.—The University of Pittsburgh and University of Washington, each with colorful 1936 football records of a slightly checkered design, will meet in the Rose Bowl here New Year's Day.

Washington's Huskies, host team of the west, tendered Pitt the bid as "representative of the best in eastern football," and said the Panthers promised to seek revenge for the three beatings they received in past performances in the famed bowl.

Athletic director Ray Eckmann of Washington made the selection announcement, and also made good a Eliphalet Notch began the career he was to follow the rest of his life at the age of seventeen when he took charge of a small school at Plainfield, Conn. in 1790. Studying divinity in his spare time, Notch was licensed to preach in 1794 and shortly afterward became pastor of the Presbyterian Church and principal of the academy at Cherry Valley, N.Y.

A progressive educator, he soon won widespread recognition and in 1804 was elected to the presidency of Union College, Schenectady, N.Y., a post which he held until his death more than sixty-one years later. For sixteen years of this period, Dr. Notch simultaneously held the post of president of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, New York.

ILLINOIS TERRITORY
Kaskaskia township of Randolph county lay east of the Mississippi until April, 1881, when a flood broke through a narrow strip of land to move the course of the Mississippi River four miles east. This cut off from the rest of the state of Illinois the twenty-seven square miles which comprise Kaskaskia township.

DETROIT IN SHUTOUT WIN

Red Wings Blank New York Rangers 2 to 0 in Major Hockey Engagement

Detroit, Dec. 4.—In a smashing comeback after two shutout defeats, the champion Detroit Red Wings used a revamped lineup to blank New York Rangers, leaders of the American division of the National Hockey League, 2 to 0, last night.

The victory put the Wings in a second-place tie with Boston. The champion's first line, with Gordon Pettenger replacing the crippled Marty Barry at centre, needed only twenty-four seconds to score the first goal. Pettenger drove down the right boards and flipped a pass to Larry Aurie, who scored before many of the 6,400 customers were seated.

The second goal came after 14:27 of the second period while Neil Colville was off the ice with a major penalty after his high stick cut Eucko McDonald's cheek—bone. Johnny Sorrell's hard drive brought goalie Dave Kerr to his knees and Herbie Lewis lifted the puck over him into the net.

The Rangers had a second period scoring chance on a penalty shot after Aurie was caught tripping, but Neil Colville's try was wide.

Lindstrom May Become Manager
Montreal, Dec. 4.—Freddie Lindstrom, former star with the Chicago Cubs, Giants and Pirates who went on the retired list from Brooklyn last season, may succeed Burleigh Grimes as manager of the Louisville Colonels of the American Association.

Louisville's choice for Grimes' successor was reported to be narrowed down between Lindstrom and Bert Niehof, pilot of the Chattanooga Lookouts. Niehof, however, indicated he was content at Chattanooga.

Miller, Making His Debut Here, Proved a Clayey Little Scraper. In great condition, he packed dynamite in both hands, and the hooks he poured into Neel's jaw were really solid. Neel has lost much of his former speed and was unable to keep his jaw protected.

Early in the first round Miller snapped over a right hand jab to Neel's chin and he slipped to the canvas for a no-count. The Alberni youngster stalked Neel and when the Victoria boy elected to trade punches he found himself on the canvas five times. Miller continued to hammer Neel around in the second and he was saved by the bell.

When Neel took another flurry of blows early in the third and slipped to the canvas, with a glassy stare on his face, his seconds tossed in the towel. Neel weighed 120 pounds and Miller 118.

Going right after his man in the second round, Fred Pocock, light heavyweight from the Garrison, knocked out Vic Vashereva, Victoria. A two-handed attack to the body and a final left-hand cross to the chin ended the fight. His seconds had to do plenty of face slapping and rubbing to bring Vashereva back from the land of nod.

ARE EXHAUSTED

For sheer courage and wild swinging the four-round mix between George Haslam, Victoria, and George Tait, Nany, took the honors for the evening. These two 140-pounders, both green as grass, slugged and socked one another until they were both ready to drop from exhaustion at the finish. Many of their blows whistled through thin air, but they gave the fans plenty to laugh and cheer about. Referee Billy Buxton wanted to stop the fight in the second round, when Haslam suffered a cut lip, but the youngster

Victoria Reps Confident On Eve Of Rugby Classic

Team Ready to Battle Varsity Here Tomorrow

Strong Forward Division and Good Defensive Backs Lined Up For City

Students Field Powerful Fifteen

Victoria's Crimson Tide, that changing aggregation of local rugby all-stars who have dominated inter-city play for the last three years, will open the 1936 McKeen Cup campaign against Varsity's "wonder team" at Macdonald Park tomorrow afternoon.

The students, rated the smartest playing unit since the days Bertie Barratt used to direct the blue and gold machine, are reported to be in shape for the usual and should give the Capital reps a great battle.

Confidence reigned in the local camp on the eve of the game, with "Buz" Brown recovered from his recent hip injury and the team which has been working out consistently completely intact for the initial engagement.

Packing a growing tradition since the days when Godfrey Wenman, Johnny Rowland, Lynn Patrick, Jackie Bryden, Pete Turgoose and the Engletons carried the main load, the Crimson Corsairs have developed a typical Victoria team for tomorrow's battle, coaches reported today.

As in previous years, a lot of the attacking power will lay in the scrum, where heavy, fast-breaking and good ragging forwards have been built around Bill Wharton, veteran hook. The backfield, said to be slightly slower than that of last year, is credited with greater ball-handling ability than the 1935 team and will probably make up in sureness what it lacks in speed. In defence, it should yield little, if anything, to the squads of former years.

RAY BACKFIELD INTACT
The team should have benefitted materially from the exhibition game between the Vancouver Rowing Club Occasionals fifteen and the James Bay Athletic Association two weeks ago.

The Bays backfield, with the exception of the right wing, will be playing as a unit for the reps. "Chuck" Sweet, Navy, fills out that division in which Roddy McInnes plays full-back, Ken Fleming and "Buz" Brown inside three and Kenny Buxton, wing, Bill Halkett stand-off half, and Wally Supe, scrum half.

The scrum will line up in a three-four-one formation with Ian Acland, Bill Wharton, Ed deBlaquiere, Dan Dowell and Campbell Forbes of the Scottish, and Bert Simpson, Jack Rutan and Chris Usher of the Bays, on duty.

While forces outside the city and some closer to home gave Varsity a slight edge for the battle, there were plenty of local experts who predicted a continued victory march for the Capital in tomorrow's engagement.

The team, however, does not underestimate the potentialities of the U.B.C. boys.

Varsity Strong
The Victorians recognize the ability of Johnny Bird, product of Shawinigan Lake School, who has developed into an exceptionally fine fullback at the university. They look for speed and deception in the three-quarter line, which includes Strat Leggett, University School graduate, Howie McInnes, Canadian Olympic sprinter, Lyle Wilson and Harry Lumsden, who are all close to ten second men.

In the half-back link Victoria can look for trouble from Art Willoughby, basketball ace and Dave Carey, sensational kicking scrum-half, while in the forwards they face speed and power in Joe Andrews and Ron Upward, two former Victoria College boys, Ed McGuire, Vancouver High School star, Paddy Colthurst, Sooke's distance runner, Jim Pyle, a member of last year's Varsity team; Jim McCammon, field athlete of note; Bert Watson, a newcomer, whose hustling play has gained him prominence; Dick Swan, another basketball star, and Bill Harmer, a new recruit to the students' pack.

C. E. Ley is scheduled to handle the game, which will start at 2:30 o'clock on the upper pitch.

On the lower field, all-star teams of high school and intermediate league players will battle in an exhibition fixture scheduled to start at 1:15 o'clock with Alan LeMarquand in charge.

The high school team will line up as follows:

Forwards: Lannigan (V.H.S.); Bray (V.H.S.); Russell (V.H.S.); H. Brown (O.B.); McKay (O.B.); McGary (V.H.S.); Edmonds (V.H.S.); and McGregor (O.B.); scrum half: Cozier (V.H.S.); stand-off: Noel (V.H.S.); three-quarters: Colvin (V.H.S.); Lucas (V.H.S.); Carney (V.H.S.); and B. Brown (V.H.S.); fullback: Grogan (O.B.).

Lewis Champion Traveler By Air

Seattle, Dec. 4.—Ed "Stranger" Lewis, former wrestling champion, held a new title today.

A commercial airlines company formally declared him the "world's champion air traveler," and presented him with an electric clock mounted in an airplane propeller.

The company reported Lewis had flown 1,500,000 miles.

HUSKY GUARD IS SELECTED

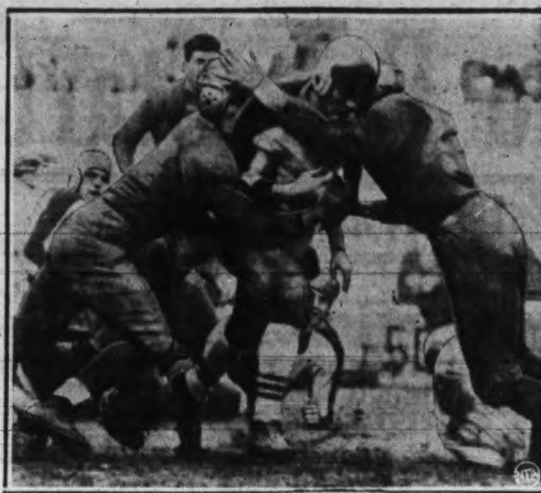

New York, Dec. 4.—The star of All-America football fame beams brightly this year over the east, in general, and over the ivy-covered premises of Yale, in particular, thereby marking a renaissance that is unquestionably well under way in the region that rocked the original gridiron cradle.

The all-star galaxy for 1936, as presented today by the Associated Press, reveals the east in possession of four players on the first team as well as a total of eleven positions on the complete all-American squad of thirty-three collegiate performers, picked by careful analysis from the best in the country.

This compares with three places on the first team for the mid-west, two for the south, one each for the far west and southwest. On the squad as a whole the mid-west obtains nine places, south seven, far west four and southwest two.

The all-America 1936 follows:
End, Garryl Tinsley, Louisiana State; tackle, Edwin Wiseth, Minnesota; guard, Max John Starevich, University of Washington; centre, Michael Basrak, Duquesne; guard, Joseph Routt, Texas A. M.; tackle, Averill Daniel, Pittsburgh; end, Lawrence Morgan, Kelley, Yale; quarterback, Clinton Edward Frank, Yale; half-back, Raymond Bulvid, Marquette; halfback, Clarence McKay Parker, Duke; fullback, Harrison Francis, Nebraska.

A Fumble Happening!

Up in the grandstand a fumble seldom is seen until after the damage has been done. This remarkable picture—a one-in-a-million action snapshot—shows a fumble taking place in the game between the Green Bay Packers and the football Giants at New York. Don Hutson (left), and Clark Hinkle (right), tackle Tuffy Leemans so hard that the ball trickles out of his grip. The ball can be seen between Hutson's chest and Leemans's thigh.

Portsmouth Will Face Brentford

Leaders in English First Division Football Tackle Tough Opposition Tomorrow; Sunderland at Home to Grimsby; Good Matches in Scottish League

London, Dec. 4.—A full league schedule faces English football teams tomorrow. Cup warfare has been shelved until December 12, when second round games will be played and interest is centred on the battle being waged for leadership of the first division.

One point separates Portsmouth and Sunderland, chief contenders for the honor, but close behind is the vastly-improved Arsenal team and three other clubs knotted for third place in the standing. Only four points divide the first twelve teams in the race.

It would not be surprising if Sunderland returned to the top rung of the ladder, a position it surrendered to Portsmouth last Saturday.

The north-westerners are at home to Grimsby and they have yet to taste defeat before their own supporters. On the other hand, Portsmouth visit London for a match with the powerful Brentford outfit and will be lucky to obtain a point.

FOUR STRAIGHT?
Riding a wave that has carried them to three successive victories, the Gunners expect to make it four in a row with Manchester City as their guests at Highbury. They are not forgetting that the City administered a 5 to 2 drubbing there last season and Babin is returning to the half-back line in place of Crayston.

Leeds United, making a great spurt after emerging from last place a few weeks ago, is fielding an unchanged side at Derby, who probably will be without Napier, Scottish International inside forward. The United has turned in wins in its last three games. With Westwood injured, Bolton Wanderers will play Hove and Birmingham on the left wing against Chelsea. Manchester United, cellar occupant, is making wholesale changes in an effort to snatch home points against Birmingham.

SECOND DIVISION
Bury, leader in the second division, visits Chesterfield but should have little difficulty against the eighteenth place team. Green, former West Bromwich Albion forward, will be substituted for Dr. Marshall at inside-right in West Ham United's team against Bradford City in the Yorkshire city, while Tottenham Hotspurs will have Alsford instead of Howe at right-half for their match at Coventry.

Face-setter in the southern section of the third division, Luton Town is good for maximum points against Aldershot, and in the northern section Chester and Port Vale tangle for the second week in succession. Last Saturday the teams played a scoreless draw at Chester and another division of the spoils is not unlikely on Port Vale's ground.

Glasgow, Dec. 4.—A battle for much-needed league points and retention of an unbeaten record will attract a capacity crowd to Tynecastle Park, Edinburgh, home of Heart of Midlothian Football Club, tomorrow.

Hearts meet Glasgow Rangers in what promises to be the outstanding fixture in the Scottish League card. Only one point divides the teams in the league standing, Rangers holding third place with twenty-seven points and Hearts fourth.

Mainly due to the fine defence of J. Dawson, international goalkeeper, and a great squad of backs and half-backs in front of him, Rangers have yet to concede defeat. Dawson has been beaten only fourteen times this season in seventeen league starts and the Glasgow squad will fight like demons to preserve their record.

The pace-setting Aberdeen team tackles Queen's Park in Glasgow and is likely to retain its one-point margin over Celtic, who will find it hard to get points at Falkirk. The latter, after a year in the second division with St. Mirren, is creeping steadily up the league ladder, now holding seventh place.

DUNDEE FAVORED
After a series of victories, Third Lanark has suffered two straight defeats, but may extract maximum points from Arbroath at the weekend. Dundee, conquerors of Third Lanark last Saturday, is at home to Hibernians and a heavy favorite.

Motherwell, after a good start, in August, has gradually fallen away and is now in ninth place. The Fir Park squad entertains low-placed Dunfermline Athletic. Queen of the South, in last place, may win at the expense of its near neighbor, Albion Rovers. The remaining games in the first division will find St. Mirren at Partick Thistle and Clyde at home to St. Johnstone.

Ayr United, demoted last season with Aldrieonians, is at the top of the second division heap with a three-point lead. Morton, St. Bernards and Ardronians, bracketed in the runner-up position, each have twenty-three points. Ayr United may go further ahead as the result of its match with King's Park. Raith Rovers are likely to make things hot for Morton and St. Bernards visit Aldrie for the tightest battle of the division.

DAVIES PUT AWAY IN OPENING ROUND

protested and the fight went on, much to the delight of the crowd.

In the opening preliminary, Jimmy and Dickie Buxton fought to a three-round draw. The lighter Dickie had the support of the fans for his gamesness against his heavier brother.

Roy Baker refereed the semi-win and main event, while Billy Buxton handled the preliminaries. Scotty McKay and Bob Vipond were the judges.

Dog Show to Be Held Tomorrow

The scene of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association's charity dog show in aid of the Gyro Christmas hamper fund to be held tomorrow afternoon and evening has been changed from the Prior building, corner of Johnson and Government Streets, to the Hudson's Bay building, 1130 Wharf Street, just opposite Dowell's storage. The show will include a children's pet show, which will start at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and a dog show at 7:30 o'clock for adults. Admission to the show will be food staples, not less than 25 cents in value, suitable for hampers. Exhibitors will be charged a small fee. Those wishing information are asked to phone Mrs. C. Bloomfield at G4788.

CALGARY MAN TO MEET KENT

Jack Taylor Will Take on Portlander in Semi-main Mat Tilt Saturday Night

Veteran of many battles in the mat ring, Jack Taylor, Calgary, who at one time wore the heavyweight crown of wrestling supremacy in Canada, will show in Victoria tomorrow night when he meets Harry Kent, Portland, in the semi-main attraction of the wrestling card to be presented at the Tillicum gym.

Taylor has been in the game for many years. He has been very active in the squared circle during the last few years and his appearance here will be a part of his comeback campaign.

Kent who has appeared here on many previous occasions will make a good opponent.

The feature bout on the card will bring together rough and ready Bob Stewart, former logger, and Donald McIntyre, husky Scottish matman. The bout is scheduled to last eight ten-minute rounds.

A newcomer to Victoria will be Bill Ryan, who will exchange grips with Louie Newman, Victoria, in the special event of five six-minute rounds. The show will open at 8:45 o'clock with the appearance of a couple of the local youngsters.

The all-star High School rugby team defeated College 9 to 0 in an exhibition game on the Fernwood grounds on Wednesday.

Carney, Brown and Martin scored tries for the High School.

Champions Make Last Round of City Badminton Meet; Titleholders to Be Crowned Tonight at the Willows Courts

A week of exciting matches in the 1936-37 city badminton tournament will reach its climax this evening when local shuttle champions will be crowned at the Willows courts following the finals in all divisions. A large gallery is expected to be on hand for the title fixtures.

The field was narrowed down to Miss Joyce Thomson, young Brentwood star and women's singles champion, and George Lane, Victoria Club netter and men's singles title holder, as play in the semi-finals wound up yesterday evening.

Keen matches and several upsets were the order of yesterday's play. Ted Simmons, Willows Club, and last season's men's singles runner-up, was taken from the championship chase by Des Bleasdale, Victoria Club, in a stiff two-set fixture. The scores were 15-9, 18-13.

George Lane, defending champion and favorite to come out top again this year, gained the final bracket with an easy win over Don Davis. The scores were 15-6, 15-11.

Battling in defence of her title, Mrs. Macdonald and Don Davis defeated Miss M. Hughes and Ralph Bagley, Willows combination, who created an upset Wednesday evening when they eliminated the mixed doubles champions. The defeat was the result of a keen three-set match. After dropping the first set 10-15, the eventual winners rallied to win the next two sets and the match. The scores in the second and third sets were 18-15 and 15-9.

A mild surprise in the women's doubles was created when Miss P. Garrard and Murdoch, young Brentwood combination, defeated Miss M. Hughes and Miss G. McCall, Willows pair, in three exciting sets. The scores were 8-15, 15-12, 15-11.

Results follow:
Semi-Final

At Hampton Hall on Saturday evening Lake Hill Lawn Bowling Club will be the guests of the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club at a five hundred party.

"Chamber Chatter," a brightly-edited mimeographed sheet covering the activities of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, made its appearance on Wednesday and will be issued weekly.

Theft of a quantity of jewelry, including rings, earrings, a locket, tiepins and two gold nuggets, from the home of P. Shouder, 702 Lamson Street, was reported to the Esquimalt police yesterday.

The Oak Bay Council yesterday received and filed a protest from the Trades and Labor Council in regard to the method of assessing water arrears against property. It was pointed out this was compulsory by statute.

At the Atlas Theatre tomorrow morning, at 9.30 o'clock, a toy matinee will be held to aid the boy scout repair shop. Admission can be obtained by a new or old toy in good condition. There is seating accommodation for 700 in the theatre.

Extradition proceedings against Geraldine Kirby, alias Darline Dwight, Castlegate, Utah, wanted in Honolulu, were postponed again when Judge Shandley in County Court today granted a remand until Tuesday morning.

Hon. Percy Pease, Deputy Prime Minister of Queensland, Australia, will be the guest tonight of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs at dinner in the Union Club. Dr. H. M. Cassidy, president, will preside.

Brief addresses by each of the candidates for mayor, aldermen and school trustees will be broadcast over CFCT tonight. The candidates will appear alphabetically and give to the electors a summarized statement of their policies and plans.

At the general meeting of the Amputations' Association of the Great West held last evening it was decided not to hold the annual children's Christmas tree this year, but to use the money usually devoted to this purpose to aid needy families in the district.

Twenty-five applications for the position of valuator for revaluation of Saanich homes were received by the Saanich Council yesterday evening. They were referred to a committee of Councillors A. G. Lambrecht, chairman; L. C. Hogan, L. H. Passmore and W. R. Woods.

Geo. I. Warren, publicity commissioner, accompanied W. H. Davies, secretary of the Landsberg Old Men's Fund, on his visit to the Aged Men's Home on Wednesday and made the monthly donation. Chocolate bars were distributed from the fund, and a gift of playing cards from the Home Staff Social Club was brought by Mr. Davies.

The attention of the Oak Bay Council was drawn yesterday to the possibility of building a huge bonfire on Gonzales at the time of King Edward's coronation next year. C. C. Pemberton recalled such a fire had been lit at the time of the late King George's coronation and he thought the municipality might keep such a plan in mind for next year.

Fifteen permits valued at $24,863 were issued on Oak Bay municipality during November, compared with ten permits valued at $15,233 in November last year. Seven new dwellings were started during the month. Oak Bay's building total for the eleven months of the year is valued at $284,490 as against $261,016 for the same period last year.

Victoria Active Club will entertain its friends at dinner on December 17 in the Dominion Hotel, members decided at a meeting in the hotel last night. Arrangements were left to the entertainment committee, under the leadership of a committee comprising Allan Baker, Douglas Nelson and Henry Sparks, was named to deal with the question of clearing a room from the Sunshine Camp site at Sooke. Adviseability of the club holding a dance next March will be investigated by H. W. N. Moorhouse.

"Modern Religion" was the theme at the weekly meeting of the Oypsa held in the Oak Bay schoolroom on Tuesday evening. The treasurer gave a financial report and commented upon the success of the play recently presented by the young people. Miss Jean Smith, on behalf of the cast and members of the Oypsa, presented a fountain pen to Norman Buckle, the director, in recognition of his services. Miss Mary Sinclair then introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Margaret Laurie.

A request for similar water rates to those accorded the Island Freezing and Packing Company is sought in a letter from the B. Wilson Company Limited, filed at the City Hall today. The letter refers to press reports stating the Island Freezing and Packing Company enjoyed a rate of 7.8 cents per 1,000 gallons. This rate is considerably less than what our firm is paying, and as the two cold storages are in direct competition with each other, we feel that the water rates should be on an equal basis," the letter said.

Satisfactory progress in his study of Victoria's physical and financial condition was reported by F. L. Hancock, eastern branch's investigator, today as he continued his personal study of accounts. James Fortin, chief investigator, is expected to arrive in Victoria Monday to continue the work. Co-operative activity in the city comptroller-treasurer's department and other branches of the civic service continued as all available information was placed at Mr. Hancock's disposal. The investigation will probably continue until late next week.

Herbert Kept was speaker at the meeting of the Victoria High School Stamp Club on Wednesday. Mr. Kept showed his fine collection. The new 1937 catalogue has been ordered for the benefit of members.

Sunday evening song services, sponsored by the interdenominational Young People's Society, will commence on Sunday at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock. The first programme of the series will be in charge of the Metropolitan Y.P.S. and will include music and singing. The meeting will be open to all young people in the city.

In connection with possible reorganization of the municipal hall staff, the Oak Bay Council yesterday received a report from John Syme, chief of police, on tax collections made by the police department. The report indicated police were often too busy for long periods during the summer and fall months to keep up collections. It is probable this duty will be taken from their hands in the reorganization.

J. M. Cummings of the Department of Mines addressed members of the Victoria High School Geological Society on Wednesday on the non-metallic minerals of British Columbia with relation to their industrial development in British Columbia. Mr. Cummings told how mineral wool was made from glass and was being used as a non-conductor and in theatres to deaden sound. He also spoke of the department's search for pure quartz sand as a foundation for the manufacturing of glass in British Columbia.

One of Handel's attractive musical masterpieces will be heard in the First United Church on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when a chorus of over fifty voices, conducted by W. C. Fyfe, will render selections from "Solomon" compiled by J. Michael Dick, an eminent British choral authority. The following are the soloists: Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. C. A. Goodwin, J. Maurice Thomas, J. Petrie and Beverly Fyfe. The organist will be G. H. Peaker. An offering will be taken on behalf of the organ fund.

An attractive programme has been arranged for tomorrow night when the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion will hold a smoking concert in the clubrooms, View Street, at 8.15 o'clock. The following artists will be on the programme: Arthur Jackson, Joe Ramsey, Al McKinnon, Len Foster, Reggie Clarke, Tom Obee, Jack Collins and Len Foster's Hill Billy orchestra.

PRAYERS TO BE SAID FOR KING

Archbishop of Canterbury Calls For Petitions on Sunday

Associated Press
London, Dec. 4.—The Archbishop of Canterbury announced today that prayers will be offered in all Anglican churches on Sunday "That God may, in these momentous hours, rule over the decisions of the King and of his government for the lasting good of the realm and empire."

The head of the Church of England issued the following statement: "At this moment of deep anxiety and bewilderment in the public mind I venture to express two earnest hopes."

"The first is that during this critical week-end, especially on Sunday, those who have the duty to speak to the people from the pulpit or otherwise will refrain from speaking directly on matters which have arisen affecting the King and his subjects."

The other hope was that prayers would be offered.

Associated Press
London, Dec. 4.—England's "free churches"—Baptists and Methodists—to which many of the working and middle classes belong, are not pressing King Edward to abandon his kingship with Mrs. Wallis Simpson, it was indicated today.

The attitude of the "free churches" was stated by Rev. Dinah T. Young, pastor of Westminster Central Hall, a Methodist church, and Rev. M. E. Aubrey, secretary of the Baptist Union of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

The church officials declared they would refuse to pledge support to Prime Minister Baldwin at least until he announced his plans for the government.

When pictures of King Edward flashed on the screen at a local theatre last night during the showing of a new reel the audience applauded vigorously.

The King was shown inspecting the bluejackets aboard a British warship and the outburst of loud handclapping and cheers was quite marked in comparison to the reception accorded a picture of the King under ordinary circumstances.

Victorian Gets Vancouver Job
Canadian Press
Vancouver, Dec. 4.—R. A. Hutchinson, former advertising manager of The Daily Colonist, Victoria, was appointed publicity commissioner to the Vancouver Tourist and Automobile Association at a directors' meeting here last night.

Mr. Hutchinson was chosen from more than 100 applicants who sought the position vacated by Charles Webster recently.

WILLIAM GOUDIE

The funeral of William Goudie, who passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Wednesday, will take place tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the Sands Mortuary, under the auspices of Far West Lodge No. 1, K. of P. Rev. E. W. Horton will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the family plot in Rose Bay Cemetery.

EDITH SHAWVER

Many sorrowing friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Edith Shawver yesterday afternoon. Rev. H. M. Bolton conducting the services. An abundance of beautiful flowers was received. The following were the pallbearers: John Fry, L. Hewlett, I. I. Ferris, A. Wicker, R. Pitton and J. Knight. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Royal Oak Burial Park.

ALICE A. MCGILLIS

Mrs. Alice A. McGillis, widow of Donald McGillis, of 344 Cook Street, passed away in the Royal Jubilee Hospital last night. She was born in London, England, and had been a resident here for twenty-five years. Mrs. McGillis is survived by one sister, Mrs. Ralph Bagshaw—and one brother, Arthur Davis, both of Victoria. Funeral services will be held on Monday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Canon H. W. G. Stocken will officiate, and interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

JOSEPH DEANE-FREEMAN

Funeral services were held in North Vancouver today over the remains of Joseph Deane-Freeman, who passed away in the North Vancouver General Hospital on Tuesday, December 1, aged eighty-two years. He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. C. E. Douglas, Victoria; Mrs. N. Williams, Calgary; Mrs. W. G. Hanson, North River; Mrs. H. H. Hutchinson, North Vancouver; one step-daughter, Mrs. F. A. A. Macdonald, Salmon Arm, and two sons, W. E. of Millarville, Alta., and Brudenell K. Deane-Freeman of Esquimalt; also several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

EMILY GERTRUDE HODGSON

Many friends attended funeral services yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Emily Gertrude Hodgson, who passed away on Tuesday. A large number of beautiful floral offerings bore testimony to the esteem in which Mrs. Hodgson was held by her many friends. Rev. Arthur Bishlager conducted the service, during which the congregation sang the hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace." A solo, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," was rendered by Mrs. S. M. Morton. The following acted as pallbearers: C. H. Hinton, D. G. Robertson, T. Astler, F. Eston, H. Clarke and H. A. Rumber. The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

ISABELLA GEARY

The death occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday of Mrs. Isabella Geary, wife of George H. Geary, 413 Walter Avenue, in her seventy-eighth year. She was born in this city and had lived here all her life. She is survived by her husband, at home; five sons, Herbert Geary, Union Bay; Clarence Geary, Seattle; Alfred E. Geary, Oakland; Charles Calhoun, Berkeley, and Harry H. Calhoun, Vancouver, and one daughter, Mrs. W. Kaye, Victoria. The remains are resting in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, where the funeral will be held on Monday, at 2 p.m. Rev. T. H. McAllister conducting the service. Interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

PATTULLO FOR DEFENCE PLAN

Canadian Press
Montreal, Dec. 4.—Voluntary enlistment in the Canadian militia to provide employment and to prepare Canada "to do our share in our defence in any case we believe just" was suggested by Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia in an interview here yesterday.

"I believe the discipline and training some of our young men would receive would be a great benefit to them," and a useful and necessary service to the country," said the Premier.

He expressed belief Canada "may well augment its forces on land, at sea and in the air. Canada can never be a military country; it would be absurd to suggest anything of the kind, but we should be prepared to do our share in our defence in any case we believe just."

Mr. Pattullo was here on a visit prior to attending the meeting of premiers and finance ministers at Ottawa December 9. He will leave later for Toronto.

Discussing the forthcoming conference in Ottawa, Mr. Pattullo said his government was "prepared to co-operate wherever it is advantageous, though not necessarily advantageous to us, because successful administration consists of a series of compromises."

Colored Lights Are Given Test

New Decorative Scheme Wins Warm Praise in Downtown Blocks

Merchants and citizens yesterday evening gained their first glimpse of Victoria's new decorative lighting system in operation as the two first blocks equipped with the colored canopies were turned on.

The two sections, the Broad Street blocks from Fort to Yates and the Yates Street block from Douglas to Blanshard, won high praise for their attractiveness.

Banks, which have been late in joining the merchants in their co-operative move to increase the attractiveness of the city, were represented at a meeting today to determine whether or not they would join in the move.

Those blocks in which merchants have supported the scheme 100 per cent also feature a neon star in their decorations.

Work was proceeding to provide more blocks with the lights as the energetic Junior Chamber of Commerce committee continued its canvass of the city to secure complete subscriptions for the work.

The Victoria West Liberal Social Club will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at 414 Skinner Street.

REAL ESTATE LAW OUTLINED

H. W. Davey Tells Victoria Board How Lawyers Can Aid Realtor

The manner in which the legal profession can aid the real estate business was told to the Real Estate Board of Victoria at its luncheon in Spencer's dining-room today by H. W. Davey.

Mr. Davey reviewed some of the more technical points of conveyances and other documents which had to be drawn up from time to time on behalf of real estate offices or owners of property.

In the drafting of these papers expert legal advice was necessary in order to assure the conveyance of a complete title to the property involved, he said.

In this connection he explained technicalities of conveying, certificates of title, succession duties in their relationship to property, and of the transfer of fixtures in buildings and growing crops on land.

In the course of his address Mr. Davey told how the legal structure which affected the real estate business had developed, explaining the old common law of England and the Statute of Uses, drawn up in the reign of Henry VIII, in 1535. This statute, originally intended to prevent abuse of the old statute of mortmain, had actually developed into foundation of the whole modern system of conveying and transfer of property by deed, he said.

Mr. Davey was introduced and thanked by E. Frank Burton, president of the board.

The twenty-third annual memorial service of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Victoria Lodge No. 2, will be held Sunday evening at 9 o'clock in the Elks' lodge room, Douglas and Broughton Streets. An address in memory of deceased lodge members will be given by Rev. F. Conley, Thomas Kelway will sing and the orchestra will play two Mendelssohn selections. Officers of the lodge will participate in the memorial ritual. The public is invited to attend.

Gray Handling Eight Portfolios

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Acting Premier for a day, became a one-man cabinet for today's meeting of the executive council when he handled eight of the thirteen provincial portfolios in the absence of various ministers.

Besides his own offices of lands and municipal affairs, he was deputizing in public works, railways, finance, industries and provincial secretary, in addition to presiding over the meeting of the four ministers in the city. It was a new record for cabinet deputizing.

Orders of a routine nature were passed.

Army to Start Yuletide Drive

"Keep the Pot Boiling" Will Be Familiar Appeal Starting Tomorrow

The familiar jingle of Christmas bells will be heard around the business section of Victoria again tomorrow as the local division of the Salvation Army gets under way with its annual "Keep the Pot Boiling" campaign.

This annual drive by the army in all points where it is represented is to raise funds for its far-reaching Christmas work for the benefit of those who do not have the opportunity to enjoy the average Christmas festivities.

Representatives of the army will be stationed at various corners throughout the city during the campaign and they ask that shoppers do their part to contribute to this worthy cause in not failing to remember those in need at this time of year.

Herbert Kept was speaker at the meeting of the Victoria High School Stamp Club on Wednesday. Mr. Kept showed his fine collection. The new 1937 catalogue has been ordered for the benefit of members.

OUT OUR WAY

"Beaver! Beaver! Beaver!"

The children of Japan must have a grand time when they play the old game of "Beaver"—look at all the bearded men there are in the land of Cherry Blossoms! The chin adorns belong to the competitors for the distinction of possessing the longest beard—and honors went to Naohiro Kato, seventy-two-year-old hardware dealer, whose five foot six inch "beaver" dominates the right side of the picture.

Mae West Film Here Tomorrow

There are three men in the life of Mae West in her latest starring vehicle, "Go West Young Man," which opens tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre.

Romance number one is with Lyle Talbot, cast as an old flame who has become a prominent politician, and finds it good publicity to "spark" with the glamorous star portrayed by Miss West. Talbot knew her when—the star knew him when they called him "Butch." She thinks he's a lotta fun.

Romance number two is with "tall, blond—and handsome" Randolph Scott, cast as farm-boy inventor, with large and sinewy muscles. She wants him to "Go West" to Hollywood.

Romance number three is with Warren Williams, playing a press agent who accompanies the star on her personal appearance trip to the movie palaces, primarily to keep her from getting married. They fight and bicker about her romances and the marriage clause in her contract. Williams extricates her from all her entanglements, but somehow gets involved himself.

A fourth romance is also suggested with Etienne Girardot, a professor, this, however, is strictly comedy in hilarious vein.

The second feature will be "They Met in a Taxi," with Chester Morris and Fay Wray.

A golfer's case isn't really bad until, instead of pressing his auto horn, he yells "Fore!"

"MOHICANS" AT THE

All-star Cast Shines in James Fenimore Cooper's Immortal Classic

Harry M. Goetz and Edward Small, the producers of Reliance Pictures, have chosen to bring to the screen, with a magnificent cast, "The Last of the Mohicans," James Fenimore Cooper's immortal classic. It opened at the Dominion Theatre today.

As depicted by one of the greatest casts in memory, Cooper's colorful characters come to a warm and pulsating life on the screen.

Brilliant performances are turned in by Randolph Scott as Hawkeye, the primitive man of the forest, whom Cooper made his hero; lovely Binnie Barnes, who is ideally cast as Alice Munro, the British Colonel's daughter, who loves him; Henry Wilcoxon, who plays the gallant Major Duncan Heyward, Hawkeye's rival for the heart of Alice; Bruce Cabot, who, with shaved scalp and scalloped, makes a perfect Magua, the renegade Indian spy; pretty Heather Angel as Cora, the sister of Alice, whose death leap from the heights of Lovers' Cliff is one of the big thrills of the picture; and Phillip Reed as Uncas, the "last of the Mohicans." Others who are outstanding are Robert Barrat as Chingachgook, the Mohican Chief, Hugh Buckler, as Colonel Munro, and William Robinson as the Colonial Captain Winthrop.

Also being shown are Joan Bennett and Elisha Cook in "Two in a Crowd."

OAK BAY THEATRE

Guy Kibbee has one of the leading roles in Selznick International's "Little Lord Fauntleroy," which stars Freddie Bartholomew and is now showing to large audiences at the Oak Bay Theatre.

Guy Kibbee was born March 6, 1886, in El Paso. His first stage role was the juvenile lead in "The Convict's Daughter." His last was in "Torch Song."

PLAZA THEATRE

"The Green Pastures," pictured by Warner Bros. from Marc Connelly's Pulitzer Prize Play, and hailed by critics as "America's best loved drama," comes to the Plaza Theatre today.

The picture, which ran for five years as a stage play and thrilled millions of people, is said to be one of the most inspiring spectacles that has ever been screened.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEWS

Toronto, Dec. 4.—November has been one of the big months of recent years for price gains in Canadian mining stocks on the Toronto exchange. Excepting only three golds, in January and the miscellaneous mines in October, it was the best month of 1936 to date. Up till November 18, the industrials were hitting a fast clip forward and, but active realizing between November 18 and 26 took a toll that left only a modest net advance for the month.

Some of the big gains in November on the Toronto mining board, were $7.25 for Lake Shore, $4.55 for O'Brien, $3.50 for Noranda, $3.35 for Hudson Bay, $1.90 for McIntyre, $1.12 for Dome, 76 cents for Chibougamau, 65 cents for Wright-Hargreaves and 51 cents for Eldorado.

On the Toronto Industrial section a long list of issues clung to their wide gains and far out in front appeared National Steel Car with a gain of $19.50 from $28 to $47.50. Reported placing of munition orders with the company by the United Kingdom was responsible for the sharp advance.

Abitibi preferred was close up with a rise of $13.50 to $35, followed by Consolidated Smelters with a gain of $8, Canadian Car and Foundry, Common $6.50, Distillers-Seagrams $3.90, Walkers Common $3.12, International Nickel $2.25 and Abitibi Common $7.

Losses in the month included $2.25 for Ford A, $2.25 for British American Oil, $1.12 for International Petroleum and 90 cents for Imperial Oil. Weakness of the oils was credited to a report that a carburetor, recently invented, would enable an ordinary car to travel 200 miles on one gallon of gasoline. Oil company chiefs refused to appear disturbed, claiming the carburetor, if it proves a success, will make gasoline so economical for power purposes that sales will be vastly increased.

In the latest week gold listings of the Toronto Exchange show a minor net advance, pulling up slowly following a sharp sell-off on Monday. They had their best gains yesterday. In the week's display the sensation was O'Brien, up $3.25 at $11.75.

Lake Shore added $7.12 in the week. Dome 35 cents and Wright Hargreaves 30 cents.

Hudson Bay, up $2 in the period, was the only important base metal stock to show a net gain, although the miscellaneous mines group, taking in the base metals, had an advance of about three-quarters of a point in the index. The cheap oils were a little higher in spots. Texas-Canadian backed up 15 cents.

Industrial stocks, although buoyant on Friday, failed to make up the wide decline suffered on Monday, and the Toronto list closed yesterday off about 2½ points for the week. The oils figured prominently in the slump, British American dropping $2.35 and Imperial $1.25. Losers of 50 cents or more in the week included Ford A, Page-Hersey, Building Products, C.P.R. Shawinigan, Consolidated Bakers and Massey Harris Common.

Three Stars At The Dominion

Ballet Stars Here Shortly

Reminiscent of the old musical comedy and road show days is the dance revue to appear on Monday, December 14, at an afternoon and evening performance at the Empire Theatre.

Four famous dancers, stars from four famous ballets will appear in modern classical and interpretive dances.

Tonia de Aragon is well remembered in Victoria for her grace and beauty—when she appeared here last year with the Spanish dancers, Geo. Chaffee won for himself an enviable reputation when he starred with the Fokine Ballet. Jose Castro is well known in Europe as a "premier" of the Madrid Opera Ballet, and Grace Walsh is known as one of the leading lights of the Metropolitan Opera Ballet.

The second half of the programme will be the brilliant revue, "Cuban Polles," straight from a phenomenal run in Chicago. Tito Carol, late-singing star of the Ziegfeld Follies, a hit wherever she goes, is one of the many stars of this company, which includes a chorus of thirty beautiful dancers, fifty artists and musicians and two orchestras—one on the stage and one in the pit.

More convinced than all the assertions that he had recovered completely from the illness which incapacitated him last winter is this picture of J. F. Morgan, famous banker. His long, brisk stride as he enters church at Lattin, L.I., bespeaks his vigor.

CARE SAVES WORKERS' EYES

Removal of Casual Specks of Dirt Cause of Permanent Injuries

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 4—Such an apparently trivial thing as the way a speck of dirt or sand is removed from a worker's eye may mean the difference between sight and blindness for that worker. Dr. Claude S. Perry of Columbus, Ohio, told industrial engineers, nurses and eye physicians attending the conference of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness here today.

During the year 1935, 133 eyes were lost by Ohio workers. Dr. Perry said reports from the Industrial Commission of Ohio showed. In the same year there were 25,798 cuts or abrasions to workmen's eyes in the state as shown by claims filed against the Industrial Commission.

Unless properly cared for, each of these cuts and abrasions, and the many more that may not have been reported, might result in partial or total loss of vision. Infection getting into the wound might require removal of the entire eye. Besides infection, there is the danger of ulcers and scars forming when even slight eye injuries are not given proper care, and such ulcers or scars may partially or totally destroy the sight of the eye.

The custom of letting a fellow worker, with work-soiled hands and the handkerchief or toothpick from his pocket, remove a speck of dirt from an eye was heavily censured by Dr. Perry. The nurse or doctor should be consulted even for these minor injuries, in order to prevent possible serious results.

PROPER LIGHT FOR STUDENTS' EYES

The harm that may be done to the eyes of students who pore over books for hours without proper light was pointed out by Prof. J. O. Krashinsky of the University of Illinois.

Even when college administrative authorities provide adequate lighting facilities in dormitories and study rooms, the students must be taught to use the facilities properly.

A survey of the lighting on the surfaces of several thousand desks and tables used by students showed that 95.3 per cent of the light was not only inadequate but injurious to the eyes. Prof. Krashinsky reported.

Correcting such conditions does not necessarily mean increasing the power consumption, he pointed out. Increase of foot-candles of illumination is far from solution of the illumination problem for the student study surface, he said.

The question of building a Scout hall at Royal Oak was discussed at a meeting in the United Church Hall, Colquhoun, Monday. The present accommodation for Scouts is so limited that a number of boys on the waiting list cannot be enrolled in the troop's strength. It is the desire of the committee to get a larger number of citizens interested in the local troop.

A veterinary surgeon was instructing a farmer as to a suitable method for administering medicine to a horse. "Simply place this powder in a gas pipe about two feet long, put one end of the pipe well back in the horse's mouth and blow the powder down his throat."

Shortly thereafter, the farmer came running into the veterinary's office in a distressed condition.

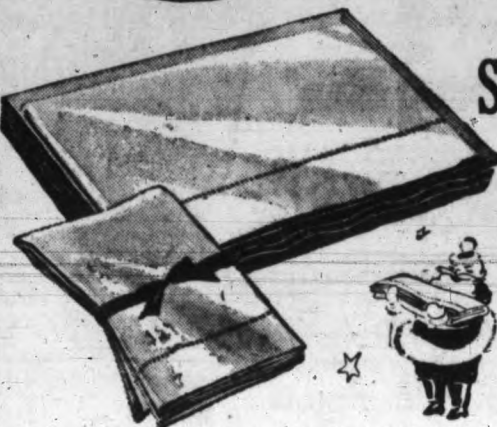

"What's the matter?" asked the veterinary.

"I'm dying," cried the farmer. "The horse blew first."—Farm and Ranch Review.

THE WAR COMES TO MADRID

Screaming out of the sky, bombs wreak rebels' vengeance on Madrid. This exclusive picture, snapped by a news-cameraman who risked his life among flying fragments, and flown to London, shows an incendiary bomb explosion during an air raid. Note the flames and dense black smoke.

To residents of Madrid the horrors of war have been "brought home" as death and destruction confined to the fighting lines never could. Ripped open as though made of cardboard instead of masonry and concrete, the apartment house was the target of one of the fiercest air raids systematically conducted by rebels against the Spanish capital. Water fills the shell hole in the street in the foreground, and the bare, maimed trees make the scene look like one from the Western Front.

Vancouver Report On Inquiry Soon

Commissioner MacDonald Expected to Give Findings on Tucker Report After Civic Election Dec. 9; Counsel Criticizes Former Accountant

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 4.—Hon. W. A. MacDonald's inquiry into charges made by former police accountant W. A. Tucker in his 140-page report on police activities here, was concluded today, and Vancouverites awaited with expectation the commissioner's official findings.

Mr. MacDonald made no announcement concerning completion of his report, but it was not expected here until after the civic election, December 9.

Final sessions of the investigation closed yesterday afternoon with a scathing attack on Tucker's report by R. L. Matland, K.C., commission counsel.

"Some passages are due largely to a horrible imagination and a shocking misapprehension of real facts," counsel charged.

"Looking into the report, I find it doubtful if Tucker ever possessed a single fact other than those picked out of the police records," Mr. Matland continued.

FROM THE FILES

"The report is nothing more than Tucker looking at police records and then expressing his own opinion regarding what happened. I found that charge after charge made in the report is incorporated from the police files.

"When he couldn't see what was happening his language became more violent. The report was a lurid account of police records."

NO COLLUSIONS SEEN

Mr. Matland branded Tucker charges of collusion as "obviously silly." Charges that the provincial government and the police, and in some instances the courts, conspired to "beat the Liquor Act" are unfounded, he claimed.

Mr. Matland emphasized the value of such additional information about club gambling as the inquiry had been able to obtain and urged the commissioner to recommend strong action to check gambling in licensed clubs.

REGINA WILL REMAIN HOME

Toronto, Dec. 4.—Tomorrow's eastern Canada football final here between Sarnia Imperials, Ontario Rugby Football Union champions, and Ottawa Rough Riders, Big Four titleholders, today assumed the stature of a Dominion senior championship battle.

Last chance of an east-west inter-sectional final apparently died last night when the Canadian Rugby Union threw out the challenge of Regina Rough Riders, western champions, because it was not backed by the Western Canada Rugby Football Union.

For lack of western challenger, Sarnia or Ottawa will win but a hollow victory tomorrow, for last year Winnipeg carried the Grey Cup west for the first time in Canadian championship history.

The western union refused Regina the right to come east in defence of western laurels, because their team was weakened by loss of five players ineligible for the final, because of residence rules.

Regina forwarded an independent challenge to the C.R.U., and last night Secretary R. W. Hewitson notified President E. A. Hardy in Saskatoon the union could not accept Regina's unsanctioned challenge.

Stan Fepler of the W.C.R.F.U. wired Hamilton the western body had withdrawn its official challenge.

Debt Charges In Saanich Reduced

Reduction of $15,630.15 in Sinking Fund; Net Shortage Is Now $21,969.99

Municipal debt charges in Saanich have been reduced this year by $15,630.15, placing the municipality in the position of being able to wipe out the entire shortage within four years. It was revealed in a report to the Saanich council yesterday evening. The reduction was made despite a loan of $5,500 at 4 per cent for the Portage Water By-law.

The net debt of the municipality is now $21,969.99 although the shortage in the funds increased from $22,283.72 to $20,098.81. This increase was offset, however, by a favorable book balance of $7,728.82 between the book value of outside investments and their par value.

Another encouraging feature was the earning of $6,195.70 in interest, which was more than calculated in the by-law.

To achieve the wiping out of the $21,969.99 shortage the municipality must make full payment of sinking fund instalments during the next four years.

In the last three years these instalments have not been paid owing to the pressing claims on revenue of relief and other necessary expenditures.

Another proviso for the retirement of the shortage by 1940 is that interest on B.C. securities must remain unchanged. Even if these conditions should change, the municipality would still have plenty of time to make adjustments as the next corporation debentures do not fall due for another eight years, in 1944.

These debentures are the 1914-16 issue, totalling $435,000, at 5 1/2 per cent. Of this issue $183,500 has been retired. The shortage on this issue is $18,347. This issue, incidentally, was the largest undertaken by the municipality and was the one which started the waterworks system. The total issue on account of waterworks is $600,000, and of this amount $220,700 has been retired.

The $93,000 issue for the three municipal high schools, issued in 1931, has been retired by $19,671 and is only $1,298 short in payments required by by-law.

NEW PONTIAC ON DISPLAY

Latest Model of Popular Machine Attracting Much Attention in City

New and thrilling in design and performance, the "Pontiac 224" for 1937 is now on view at dealers' salesrooms throughout the country. This new Six gets its name from the fact that its engine has displacement of 224 cubic inches. The new machine is being shown in Cecil Eve's showrooms at the corner of Yates and Quadra Streets.

The new models maintain Pontiac's reputation for lively road manners, beauty and ruggedness, as well as economy of operation. They have all-silent, all-steel Turret-Top bodies by Fisher with unsteel construction.

Acclaimed by the engineers as "the finest car in the low-priced field," the "224" has many features which will be of particular interest to the car user. With public sentiment favoring a different and safe type of door handle, the new Pontiac features a rather distinctive but substantial, turned-in handle. The famous "silver streak" sweeping from bumper to cowl is narrower this year, consisting of a wide centre bar dividing six narrow bars. The new models are more streamlined and possess a beauty and dash which are quite arresting from any angle. Greater slope of the rear end completes a fine sports silhouette, while the sloping back of the windshield by seven degrees is an important safety feature, engineers point out. Briefly this means that the driver, without straining, can see stoplights and high objects, usually out of the line of vision.

An inspection of the "224" also reveals some other interesting safety features. In addition to all-steel construction with safety glass right around, there is an adjustable, tilting driver's seat, which will be appreciated by the short driver. It will be noted that the new Pontiac has a greater steering responsiveness and acceleration, while a convenient cowl type of emergency brake lever has been placed directly in front of the driver's left arm.

Renewals of four coil and petrolum leases held by the Wilson Mining and Investment Co. Ltd. in the Princeton area have been approved by the provincial government. The renewals are for three years and cover a total of 1,417 acres.

Conference On Market Laws

At a conference of agricultural ministers in Ottawa this month, Hon. K. C. MacDonald, B.C. Minister of Agriculture, will urge the continuation of efforts to regulate orderly marketing of products, it was indicated here today.

Dr. MacDonald will leave here tonight to attend the conference, called by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal Minister of Agriculture, for December 14.

It is feared here that the Privy Council will reject the province's appeal for a ruling that the Bennett Dominion marketing law is valid. Dr. MacDonald will urge the Dominion to take steps to correct any deficiencies there may be in the legislation so that controlled marketing can continue on a satisfactory basis.

In a speech in the Legislature recently Dr. MacDonald said:

"The residual powers which will permit regulation of marketing must lie somewhere, either with the Dominion or the province. We must have this matter clarified."

MACHINE-AGE MISFITS
Gangsters are in many instances but boys whose yearning for adventure in an automobile-machine age leads them astray.

—Dr. Homer P. Barnes, Hawaiian educator.

On Tuesday evening next, Harry Langley will be the speaker at a meeting to be held under the auspices of the Royal Society of St. George, in the Conservative Clubrooms, Campbell Building. His subject will be "Recent Impressions of England."

Suitable solos will be contributed by Mrs. A. W. Stokes and Jim Matheson. The meeting will commence at 8 o'clock, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Machine Finds Radium in Body

New Scientific Discoveries Announced at Philosophical Convention

Philadelphia, Dec. 4.—A millionth of a gram of radium in your body (and that's enough to poison you, slowly) can be detected and its concentration measured by a new clinical machine described here today before the meeting of the American Philosophical Association.

The machine is a product of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Radium poisoning has assumed major importance as an industrial and public health hazard since the tragic poisoning of a number of watch-dial workers several years ago, who unwittingly doomed themselves to slow death by pointing up with their lips the small brushes used for applying radioactive-luminous paint. Fake rejuvenation waters containing radium have also taken their toll of victims.

Besides measuring the disintegrating radium in the patient's bones (which is where radium usually lodges in the body), and studying its rate of increasing deposition or of elimination, modern radium-sickness clinical methods include measurements of radioactive gases exhaled from the lungs and radioactive substances eliminated in the body's excretions, since in this way accurate check can be made on how much of the deadly elements the body is able to rid itself of.

BLOOD-CLOTTING PLATELETS PRODUCED IN LUNGS

Blood platelets, minute flattened disks important because they help to prevent death by hemorrhage, are produced in the lungs, it appears from research reported by Dr. William H. Howell, professor emeritus of physiology in the Johns Hopkins University.

First evidence that these vital elements of the blood are formed in the lungs was reported a year ago by Dr. Howell. His report today confirms this evidence which helps to clear up a fifty-year-old puzzle. Scientists have held many theories as to the origin, function and fate of these platelets, which were discovered half a century ago. The marrow of the bones where the red blood cells and many white blood cells are formed was generally considered their birthplace, until Dr. Howell's research showed that they are formed in the lungs as a sort of solid secretion produced by cells called megakaryocytes.

The megakaryocytes increase in number and are stimulated to greater growth and activity by defibrination, Dr. Howell reported. This process consists in removing the fibrin from the blood and causes destruction of the platelets. But while the number of platelets circulating in the blood is reduced when some of the fibrin is removed, production of new platelets is stimulated by the process.

Injecting peptone into the blood also causes an immediate large reduction in the number of platelets, Dr. Howell reported, but the number returns practically to normal within two or three hours.

"What happens," he explained, "is that the peptone causes clumping of the platelets in the circulation and these clumps are strained off in the capillaries (smallest-sized veins and arteries), especially the capillaries of the lungs, where they disintegrate or become phagocytized."

"The rapid return to normal is not due to the restoration of the clumped platelets to the circulation but to an accelerated formation of new ones."

Examination of sections of the lungs under the microscope bears out this interpretation. A characteristic feature, after a certain time, is the number of small, apparently newly developed giant cells found in the lungs.

RHINOCEROSSES IN ANCIENT WEST

The west may have been wild and woolly in our grandfathers' time, but forty or fifty million years ago it must have been wilder still. There were lots of assorted native-American rhinoceroses there in those days, the lower oligocene by the geologists' reckoning. To his fellow-members of the American Philosophical Society, Prof. William Berryman Scott of Princeton described three main lines of these ancient beasts.

Although the rhinoceros is by definition and name a horn-nosed beast, the ancient American rhinos did not go in much for such nasal weapons. One of the three lines only developed incipient twin horns suggestive of the modern Old-World rhinoceroses; the other two had quite hornless heads. The second line of rhinoceroses described by Prof. Scott must have been more like modern horses or deer, for they were long-legged, built for running. Prof. Scott suggested that they must have depended on their speed to escape their enemies, rather than an charging like an armored tank, as a modern rhino would do. The third main division of the oblique rhinoceroses of the old west were built more like hippopotamuses, and very likely lived aquatic, hippo-like lives. They were big, lumbering brutes with enormous eye-teeth like those of the modern hippopotamus.

MODERN SNAILS TELL OF ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY

Snails and other land mollusks gave evidence, as reviewed by Dr. Horace G. Richards of the New Jersey State Museum, that wide water flowed between Cuba and Yucatan a million years ago as it still flows today.

Dr. Richards studied the land mollusks of Cosumel Island, just off the east coast of Yucatan, to test a theory that they are related to the corresponding fauna of Cuba, which would indicate that at one time a land bridge existed between that island and the Yucatan peninsula. However, the kinships of the Cosumel forms were found to be overwhelmingly with those of Yucatan and not with those of Cuba.

This lack of similarity, Dr. Richards suggested, may cast some doubt on theories recently advocated of an ice Age sinking of sea level by several thousand feet.

TOURISTS' COMMENTS

Horn blowing Nerve-wracking and Traffic Regulations Slack, Says Visitor; Another Saw Vancouver Island From Bicycle Saddle Due to Financial Shortage; Respect for Law and Order is Commended; Handling of Cars on Ferries Declared Perfect

"Incessant auto horn blowing is useless and nerve-wracking," says a California visitor who was in Victoria last summer, in answering a questionnaire sent out by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Also on the motor traffic question, another tourist says: "Traffic handling poor, lights at crossings badly timed, drivers slow-witted and pedestrian zones should be more rigidly enforced."

Comments of other Californians are as follows:

"Due to financial shortage I toured your island on a bicycle."

"We remember the courtesy of your people, the respect for law and order, the beautiful homes and gardens and the fine food and good hotels."

"We didn't find any really good eating places."

"Were a bit disappointed in the old English atmosphere."

"Heard about Victoria from your publicity bureau."

"The manner of handling our cars on the boats was perfect."

"The food was delicious and inexpensive."

"I expect to return to Victoria to reside."

"You want better places in which to eat."

"Good roads, good hotels, wonderful scenery."

"We came to enjoy the old-world atmosphere."

"More newspaper advertising would help the tourist trade."

"Your upper island highways are disgraceful."

"With the Island resorts were more quaintly English."

"You have a lovely climate and fine citizens."

"Put more directional signs on the Marine Drive."

"Your immigration officers could give our Mexican border men an excellent schooling in handling the public."

"Throwing their gardens open to the public is a fine gesture on the part of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart."

"Your Victoria homes, with their bright-colored flowers, were well worth the trip."

"You're so different from the U.S.A."

"Don't commercialize and lose your old-world charm."

"I found prices in Victoria very reasonable."

"All very fine, except highways."

"During the last twenty years we had built up an imaginary picture of your bit of old England, but were disappointed."

"Suggest more bicycles, London type buses and picturesque stone buildings would make your city as quaint and picturesque as people expect to find it."

"You should notify all tourists that the Victoria stores are closed on Wednesday afternoons."

A New
IN THE
LOW PRICE FIELD

NOW, owning a Pontiac is no longer a question of price! For Pontiac, this year, introduces a smart, new, full-sized model within the reach of practically every new car purchaser. The new Pontiac "224" brings fine car value to the low price field. Economical to buy, it is just as economical to run.

Beauty starts at the top with that crown of solid steel sweeping in graceful lines from the sloping windshield to rear window. The new, all-silent all-steel Turret Top Body by Fisher with Unisteel construction also contributes much to safety and comfort.

Pontiac's centre-point steering means effortless control of the wheel. Pontiac's powerful six-cylinder engine is silken-smooth in operation, no matter how hard you force it. Aircraft, Bids and Specialties Active On Wall St. Market

Associated Press
New York, Dec. 4.—Aircraft, oils and specialties furnished the principal recovery fireworks in today's stock market, although early gains of fractions to six points or so were reduced or cancelled in late selling.

Steels and many of the other so-called leaders were in the slipping category and prices were uneven at the close. Transfers were around 2,200,000 shares.

Brokers said encouraging business news continued as the main sustaining influence.

A seasonal drop in last week's freight shipments, officially reported today, and visions of expanding operating earnings, brought belated support for some of the rails.

Outstanding shares on the upside most of the day were Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Sperry, Curtiss-Wright and North American Aviation.

Backward were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors and Chrysler.

Montreal, Dec. 4.—After holding comparatively steady today's stock market eased toward the close.

Canadian Bronze, at 50, and Building Products, at 56 1/2, each showed point gains in the construction, with other issues easing fractions.

Rails and steel dipped fractions to a point, Canadian Hydro Electric firmed a point to 72, but Brazilian and Montreal Power were down.

Papers edged upward.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—Stocks held in dull trading on the mining board of the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Royalty stood out with an advance of 4 to 40, Calgary-Edmonton also improving. Perron was up 20 cents and Powell River pushed up 10 to 10 1/2.

Dome, Lake Shore and McIntyre weakened moderately, as did Noranda and Hudson Bay. Eldorado finished with the loss of a few cents. Net gains dotted the penny list.

Woman Has Her Place in Business
May Have to Battle for Equal Rights

THERE is no denying that just now there is a strong popular reaction against women in the professions and in business, and that the door of opportunity, which so many women fought to push open for their sex, is being closed to them again. Germany and Italy have boldly shooed women back into the kitchen and the nursery. In America the woman who works outside of her home is being blamed for everything that is wrong from the depression up and down and furnishes the alibi for every Weary Willie who would rather loaf than work.

Well, what about it? Suppose the woman doctor has patients who would have to go to a man doctor if she were not practicing medicine. Suppose girls do fill the places behind counters and in offices that were once filled exclusively by young men. Suppose even rich girls who do not need money hold down jobs that poor men and families to support do not want to do?

Roughly speaking, 50 per cent of the population are women. They own property. They pay taxes. They are educated. Are they to be deprived of the chance to make an honest living and to exercise their talents just because they have the handicap of having been born women?

Perish the thought. Even to entertain it for a minute is just like going back to the Dark Ages when women were nothing but the playthings or the slaves of men and when a learned ecclesiastical body debated long and bitterly over the question of whether they even had souls.

Those who contend that every job with a pay envelope attached to it is the sole prerogative of men go upon the blithe assumption that no woman has any real need to earn money, and that heaven automatically provides every girl with a father who is simply able to support her and bestows upon her a rich and indulgent husband. Unhappily this fairy tale existence has not been the lot of one working girl out of a hundred thousand.

The reason Sadie stands behind a counter all day, or pounds a type-writer, or runs a sewing machine in a factory is not because she is so strangely constituted that she prefers to spend her days toiling rather than in amusing herself, or because she prefers hard-earned money to easy money. It is because if she does not work neither will she eat, nor will her father and mother and little sisters and brothers. It is the thin pay envelopes of millions of working girls that keep their families off the bread line.

Such being the case—and none can dispute it—why hasn't Sadie the same human right to a living for herself and her family that her brother has? Certainly it is better for the family because girls notoriously give far more of their earnings to maintain the home than boys do, and certainly it is far better for Sadie to be able to make an honest living by the work of her hands than it is for her to have to get it in what is euphemistically called the easiest way.

But, say those who object to women following any gainful occupation, men have families to support. Women have nobody but themselves. Haven't they? In a close association with working women that goes over forty years I have never known but one who was not supporting her old parents, or little brothers and sisters, or sending nieces and nephews through college, or making the bread and butter that her own children ate; or taking care of a sick or no-account husband. New hands reach out for a woman's pocketbook just as often as they do for a man's, and it is the woman's pocketbook that opens to them oftener.

The business girl kills the goose that lays the golden wedding ring, contented those who would have every young woman sit at home and suck her thumb while waiting for something in trousers to come along and ask her to go to the altar with him. Young men can't marry as early as they used to because women have all the good jobs. Well, even if that were true, the young men couldn't marry because they had their sisters hanging around their necks. The parasite sister was a liability. The sister with a job is an asset.

Then comes the final indictment of the working woman. She works because she likes to work outside the home. She works because she wants more money to spend on luxuries. Well, what of that? Why hasn't a woman as much right as a man to do the kind of work she likes to do and for which she has a gift? Nobody thinks a boy should be an idler because he doesn't need to work. Nobody admires a man tightwad. So why shouldn't the woman who makes money spend her money on the luxury trades which keep business going?

Fifty per cent of the population are women. What justice is there in keeping them from following gainful occupations? Think it over before you berate the business woman.

Uncle Wiggily's Funny Dream

By HOWARD E. GARR

"Wiggly! Wiggly!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears as soon as she had closed the kitchen door after the strange maver-cat had come in as I told you in the story last night.

"Yes, my dear," said Mr. Longears as he looked at the door. "Just in case you explained to Nurse Jane some of the real bad Chaps might take a notion to come in."

"That's a good idea," squeaked the maver-cat lady housekeeper. "But your wife wants to speak to you, Mr. Longears."

"Oh, yes, my dear," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "Excuse me a moment," he said to the Mewer, which was the name of the stray cat that had come in out of the night.

"Certainly," answered the Mewer, who seemed very polite. "I hope I am not putting you out," he added, looking from Uncle Wiggily to Mrs. Longears and then at Nurse Jane.

"Oh, no, we're not going out, we're going to stay all night and you're invited to stay also," said Mr. Longears.

"DO YOU THINK IT'S SAFE?"

"That's what I wanted to speak to you about," said the rabbit lady in a whisper. "I don't want to be impolite, my dear Wiggly, but do you think it will be safe to let this stray cat stay in our bungalow for the night?"

"Of course I do," said Uncle Wiggily. "It isn't as if he was the Bob Cat or the Fox or the Wolf. I wouldn't dream of letting any of those Bad Chaps stay in the bungalow."

"Certainly not," agreed his wife. "Well, it's all right for this night, but I'd better make up an extra bed."

"I'm afraid," said the stray cat, "I'm making a lot of trouble for you."

"Not at all," said Uncle Wiggily. "And now, while Nurse Jane is getting you some warm milk for the night is cold, and while my wife is making up a bed, tell me how you came here? How did it happen that we heard your meowing outside my bungalow when I was thinking and Nurse Jane was listening to the radio and my wife was mending stockings?"

"Well," said the Mewer, or stray cat, "I got lost in the dark woods. I didn't know my way home and when I saw a light in your bungalow I stuck my tail up in the air and meowed outside your door."

"You are quite welcome," said Uncle Wiggily. "Ah, here comes Nurse Jane with the warm milk and after you drink that your bed will be ready for you."

ALL IN BED

"Thank you so much," meowed the Mewer. With his red tongue he lapped up the warm milk and then he went to his room in his bedroom next to Uncle Wiggily's while Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears, after making sure all the little bunnies were safe and sound asleep, went to their beds.

Soon after he was asleep, Uncle Wiggily had a funny dream. He dreamed he was a little boy rabbit again and he didn't want to wash his face. But his mother took a rag made of sandpaper and began washing his face for him. And then, in his dream, Uncle Wiggily begged her to stop and cried out: "No! No!" to his surprise he said: "No!" so loudly that he awakened himself. Then he sat up in bed and he found it was the Mewer or stray cat licking his face with his rough tongue.

"You are quite welcome," said Uncle Wiggily, whispering the cat. "I want to tell you I heard a funny noise at the back door. I think the Bob Cat, Bad Chap, is trying to get in. I have telephoned for the Police Dog. The Police Dog is on his way."

"Good!" said Uncle Wiggily. "It's a

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1936

Conflicting planetary aspects are active today, and it is a time to pursue beaten paths and to seek recreation.

Uranus is in a place which encourages new things in the way of politics and view. The stars stimulate energy and confidence, which should characterize plans for the new year.

Women are subject to disturbing planetary influences, which incline men to prevent them from attaining equality in business or professional work. Competition between the sexes will be marked. Under this configuration nerves will be tense and irritability prevalent. Quarrels will arise readily; it is well to bridle the tongue.

This is not a favorable day for domestic harmony. Financial arguments may be serious. Both men and women will be inclined to extravagance in personal spending.

Bad news for persons who have occupied positions in the sun is foretold. There will be numerous changes in high governmental places.

Among attorneys, possibility of appointment to the bench will arouse keen aspiration which will bring supreme success to two men.

Women whose public life will not be so conspicuous as they have been recently, it is prognosticated. Many will receive recognition in fairly fortunate appointments, but the stars appear to frown upon exalted positions.

Persons whose birthdate it is the augury of a year of changes attended by perplexities. Journeys are forecast for men, and for women unexpected gifts.

Children born on this day probably will be gifted and ambitious. Subjects of this sign usually are good leaders and able to carry responsibility.

Those who have celebrated it as a birthday include Clinton Hart Merriam, biologist, 1858.

Canadian Railway Revenues Increase

Both Major Lines in Country in Healthier State Than at Same Time Last Year

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Gross revenues of Canadian railways for September amounted to $33,103,441, a gain of almost 12 per cent or $3,498,232 over September, 1935, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Gross revenues were the highest for any September since 1931.

Operating expenses increased $2,022,845, net operating revenue $1,405,887 and the operating income $1,330,262. Freight traffic measured in ton-miles increased 12.6 per cent and passenger traffic measured in passenger-miles increased 20.3 per cent, but passenger revenue was only 10.8 per cent or $312,786 greater.

The total payroll amounted to $15,194,374, an increase over September, 1935, of $752,273 or 5.3 per cent, for an increase of 3,325 employees, or 2.6 per cent. This does not include 8,097 relief employees on maintenance work and wages amounting to $494,313 charged to the Dominion Government.

For January-September gross revenues increased from $220,871,687 in 1935 to $238,527,945 and the operating income increased from $16,318,642 to $16,532,238.

BIG INCREASE

Canadian National Railways gross revenues of Canadian lines increased from $13,614,692 to $15,636,849 or 14.9 per cent.

Operating expenses increased only $1,118,401 increasing the net revenue $903,754 and the operating income from $1,850,280 to $2,627,141. Freight traffic was 19.9 per cent heavier and passenger traffic increased 19.5 per cent. The Duluth, Winnipeg and Pacific Railway showed an improvement in the operating income of $24,755, but the other three lines in the United States showed decreases, reducing the system operating income to $2,354,593 against $1,763,824 last year.

Dies on Liner From Injuries

Passenger Buried at Sea, as His Wife Confined to Cabin With Broken Arm

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—Dr. W. B. LaForce, for twelve years a professor in Tying Hsu College in Peiping and previously president of Ottumwa Medical College, Ottumwa, Iowa, died Wednesday aboard the liner President Lincoln, en route across the Pacific from Yokohama.

Dr. LaForce died of injuries he received when he was thrown to the deck during a severe storm, and was buried at sea midway between Yokohama and Honolulu, in accordance with his expressed wish. Mrs. LaForce suffered a broken arm in the storm and is confined to her cabin under care of the ship's medical staff.

Dr. LaForce settled in Attadena when he retired from his service in China seven years ago. With his wife he was returning from a pleasure tour of the Orient.
